

Democrats to Ban Secrecy At Meetings

Nelson Meets at Lake Delton With Party Leaders

Lake Delton —A— Wisconsin Democratic party leaders, voted into top jobs in the Nov. 4 election, said today one of their first official moves would be to seek discontinuance of official committees and boards.

Plans for action in this field and others were announced after a meeting attended by Gov. Elect Gailord Nelson, three other top constitutional officer-elects and party legislative leaders.

Their session was held in a restaurant here. Newsmen were not admitted but Nelson later announced what happened.

Nelson will take office Jan. 5, the first Democratic chief executive in the state since the 1930s. Others who will replace Republicans are Philo Nash, lieutenant governor; John Reynolds, attorney general; and Francis Lamb, treasurer. In addition, Democrats will control the assembly.

Public Sessions

Nelson stressed that all matters considered at the meeting here will be submitted to the party's organizational meeting in Madison in January.

High on the list of the new majority party goals in the assembly will be to open all so-called executive sessions of committee hearings to the public. If this takes place it would be the first such action in Wisconsin's modern history.

Party heads said agreement had been reached so that George Molinaro, veteran assemblyman from Racine, will be unopposed in his party for speakership of the assembly.

In the past he was the Democrats' assistant floor leader and a member of the joint committee on finance.

Robert Huber of West Allis, minority party floor leader in the last two sessions, will remain as leader, this time of the majority party.

Anderson may be clerk. Norman Anderson, Madison assemblyman defeated in his bid for reelection, will be offered the post of clerk of the assembly. The job has been held for many years by Arthur L. May, Republican attorney from Madison.

It was agreed that State Sen. Lynn Stalbaum of Racine and Assemblymen Fred Risser of Madison and Howard Pellant of Milwaukee would join Nelson when he holds executive budget hearings next week. Stalbaum has been on the joint finance committee.

Another point agreed on was to invite assembly Republicans to sit on committees of their own choosing. In the past, Democratic assemblymen complained that under Republicans they did not get as many committee assignments or the type they desired.

Huber told newsmen after the meeting:

"If anyone in this state thinks we are going to Madison with revenge in our hearts for the treatment we got as a minority party in the past, they are wrong."

"Republicans will fare much better than we ever did on committee assignments."

Nelson Appoints Financial Aide

Madison —A— Gov. - elect Gailord Nelson announced today the appointment of Joe E. Nusbaum, 34, Middleton, as his financial aide.

Nusbaum, an instructor in the University of Wisconsin Bureau of Government, headed the budget and administrative analysis division of the state budget office until July. He worked on budgets with both former Gov. Walter J. Kohler and Gov. Vernon Thomson.

2 Men Questioned on Fire Bomb in Atlanta

Atlanta —A— Police today held two men for questioning about a fire bomb tossed into a truck at the strike-bound Atlantic Steel Co. plant.

The flaming missile, made by filling a wine bottle with gasoline, landed in the truck cab Monday, set fire to and seriously burned driver Edwin Linwood Gossett, 45, of route 2, Hampton, Ga.

Dim Hope for Man Buried by Sliding Earth

Thomaston, Conn. —A— Three bulldozers bit into tons of rock and earth today to clear a path for rescuers trying to free a trapped construction worker.

Hope was dimming for the life of Matthew Pagarulo, 38, of Torrington, who was buried near his power shovel at dusk yesterday. There was no sign of life.

Rescuers said they doubted whether they could get at the spot where Pagarulo is trapped under rock and dirt until late this afternoon.

Before the searchers could return to their task, the bulldozers had to eliminate any possibility of a second landslide.

Work Through Night
The 15 rescuers were able to see the top of the power shovel as they waited for the word to pick up their own shovels.

The rescuers had worked wearily through the night under lights in treacherous, shifting rubble in a ravine at the $17 million federal Thomaston dam project.

Then they were ordered to take a temporary break for the bulldozers.

The rescuers were joined by an investigating team from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers office in Springfield, Mass.

A co-worker narrowly escaped the fall. Joseph Dinatale of Torrington, an oiler on the shovel, said he missed the landslide when he moved to higher ground moments before.

Nab Suspect In Kidnaping

Erratic Driving By Abducted Man Leads to Arrest

South Kingstown, N. Y. —A kidnapped cab driver from Boston early today attracted the attention of police by careless driving and led to the gunpoint capture of a man wanted for a Weston, Mass., terror robbery and other crimes.

The arrested man was identified as Charles Makranin, 28, of Everett, Mass., wanted for allegedly breaking into the home of Dr. John C. Wells, Jr., 28, at Weston, binding Mrs. Wells, two of their three sons and a maid, and escaping with $6 last Thursday.

Boston police said Makranin also is wanted for kidnaping and robbing $18 at gunpoint from Boston cab driver Anthony R. Brogna, 21.

Jacob Karchmer, 41, of Dorchester, Mass., an independent cab driver, was credited by police with leading to Makranin's capture.

Karchmer said Makranin got into his cab near the South Station railroad terminal in Boston early today and directed him to drive to Providence.

At Providence, Karchmer said, Makranin pulled out a gun, robbed him of $48.50 and ordered him to drive to New York with the remark: "Don't be a hero; do as you are told."

At South Kingstown, Karchmer noticed two policemen in a cruising car and began to weave the cab crazily on route 1A.

The policemen followed the cab for a while and then stopped it. At that point Karchmer told police of the kidnap and robbery.

Hurst said William J. Rogers, 47, an unemployed furnace installer, made a round of taverns late Tuesday night, returned home early today and had an argument with his wife about his drinking.

The detective quoted Rogers as saying his wife arose to go to work and that he heard her talking on the telephone about 6 a. m. to her sister, Mrs. Frank McLaughlin.

He went to an upstairs closet where he got his .30-30 deer rifle, Hurst said Rogers told

Chrysler Assembly Plants Shut Down

Strike of Engineers and Office Workers Halts Output

Detroit —A— All eight of Chrysler Corp.'s final assembly plants were closed today by a strike of 8,000 office workers and engineers which shut down the firm's auto and truck production.

Chrysler plants working on missiles and other defense items were not affected.

The United Auto Workers, which represents both the strikers and Chrysler's approximately 70,000 production workers, had expressed hopes the strike would not force a shutdown of Chrysler's efforts to turn out 1959 models.

UAW leaders instructed strikers not to post picket lines around the auto plants at shift change time; unionists traditionally do not cross picket lines.

Delaware Plant Open
The UAW leadership had a knotty problem on its hands in trying to enforce its desire to keep Chrysler's auto assembly lines going, while at the same time giving full support to the striking office workers and engineers.

Chrysler said its work picture was changing almost hourly because of union walkouts and company shutdowns of some units because of parts shortages.

The last Chrysler assembly plant to close was at Newark, Del., where company officials

Man and 3 Sons Die in Ohio Fire

East Liverpool, Ohio —A— A man and his three young sons perished in a fire and explosion at a 4-story frame apartment building here today.

The father was identified as Robert Wolfe, 28. The sons were Rickie, 5 months, Bobby, Jr., 1, and Randy, 2.

The mother was reported in critical condition at a hospital with burns suffered in the fire.

him, and shot his wife as she talked on the phone and again after she had fallen to the floor.

Rogers then, according to Hurst, went into Gary's bedroom and shot his sleeping stepson in the head.

Hurst quoted Rogers as saying the youngster had "annoyed me" on numerous occasions.

The Rogers' two daughters, Patricia, 6, and Debora, 3, were home but were unharmed.

Meanwhile, Mrs. McLaughlin telephoned police, who arrived at the Rogers home to find Rogers sitting in the living room.

"I just shot my wife and son," Hurst quoted Rogers as saying.

He also said Rogers told officers he had been sick but had not seen a doctor.

Sen. Johnson Receives New Bipartisan Job

Named to Discuss Problems With Mexican Leader

Washington —A— The Eisenhower administration has called on Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) for another bipartisan task—discussion of continental problems with the incoming president of Mexico.

Johnson, the senate's Democratic leader, is expected to go to Mexico City this month to confer personally with President-elect Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

In congress and the state department the invitation to Johnson to undertake the personal diplomatic mission to Mexico was regarded as an indication the administration wants to work closely with the party leader in shoring up Latin American relations.

It was the second bipartisan assignment Johnson has been asked to undertake this week.

Previously Sec. of State Dulles had announced Johnson had agreed to speak in the United Nations in behalf of the American resolution for the peaceful uses of outer space.

Although Johnson heads the opposition party in the senate, he has worked closely with the Republican administration in many areas, especially on problems involving foreign policy.

He said in a speech last week the increased Democratic majority in the new congress will meet President Eisenhower at least halfway.

31 Bulgarians to Die For Embezzlements

Vie nna —A— Bulgarian courts have passed 31 death sentences in the last two years on communist party and government officials who stole or embezzled state funds, according to the Warsaw newspaper Trybuna Ludu.

In the most recent trial a bank inspector was executed for accepting graft money amounting to about $25,000.

No Clearance
U. A. R. officials said Hussein's plane was crossing Syria without proper clearance and was stopped as a routine and legal measure.

The incident shattered a recent improvement in relations between Jordan and the U. A. R., whose radio stations often in the past have called for Hussein's assassination.

Rifai told parliament that U. N. Sec. Gen. Dag Hammarskjöld would be asked to arrange a security council debate on the Jordanian charges as soon as possible.

A source at the U. N. in New York said, however, that the charges received there did not mention an emergency council meeting.

Grotewohl Silent as to Whether Action Depends On Western Agreement

Berlin —A— Premier Otto Grotewohl indicated today that his communist East German regime shortly will open negotiations with Russia for the withdrawal of Soviet troops.

The East German boss did not make it clear whether a Soviet withdrawal from East Germany would hinge on the west following suit.

Grotewohl's announcement followed weekend demands by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the western allies withdraw from Berlin.

At a news conference, Grotewohl said a new settlement regarding Soviet troops would be negotiated.

He added immediately that he hoped this settlement would encourage the United States, France and Britain to take the same steps regarding their own troops in West Germany.

Asked if the settlement would lead to the withdrawal of Russian troops, he replied: "Yes, I interpret the weekend speech of Khrushchev to mean that the Soviet Union will re-examine the question with the aim of pulling out its troops. Perhaps there would have to be a proviso that the

Outer Space Debate Starts

Russia Demands Elimination of Foreign Bases

United Nations, N. Y. —A— The United Nations today began its debate on outer space control of man's quest for the skies. Some east-west blasts loomed ahead.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin opened debate before the 81-nation political committee with a call to link the space question with Russia's cold war demand for elimination of military bases on foreign soil.

The United States, which indicated it will not go into extensive debate until it hears Russia's full position, private-ly sought support for its own proposal. It wants to create a U. N. commission to study how outer space can be used solely for peace.

Agreement Unlikely
Chances of east-west agreement dimmed when Russia rejected an American attempt to obtain a joint approach on the space issue. A U. S. spokesman said the Soviets replied that they wanted to hear U. N. debate before commenting on possibilities of east-west cooperation.

The United States made clear in turn it would oppose Russia's demand to approve both a ban on use of space for military purposes and elimination of foreign military bases on foreign soil, particularly Europe, the Middle East and Africa.

West Germans Say Russia Perils Peace

Bonn —A—The West German government accused Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today of pursuing a foreign policy perilous to world peace.

The government in a statement of unusually strong language rejected Khrushchev's call Monday for an end of the 4-power occupation of Berlin.

"If this happens," the statement said, "the already tense situation in the world will be sharpened to a perilous extent."

The statement said that the Soviet Union alone must bear responsibility for such a development.

western allies take the same step."

Grotewohl said Khrushchev's statements in Moscow regarding Berlin had been "sensationalized." He said the problem of Berlin was closely related to the entire problem of Germany.

Problem for West
The highest question, he said, was peace and German unification, but this could not be solved without solving the Berlin question too.

Grotewohl said the western powers would find it harder to justify their presence in Berlin. He denounced the present division of the city and offered West Berlin milk and vegetables. He gave no indication that either Russia or his regime would attempt to drive the western powers out of West Berlin by force.

The division of Berlin, Grotewohl said, was a permanent fact.

Senator Wants Dulles to Resign

New York —A— Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) wants Sec. of State John Foster Dulles to resign.

"It is no secret," Clark said yesterday, "that our present secretary of state has lost the confidence of many of our allies and many of us in congress."

Clark addressed the 40th anniversary conference of the Foreign Policy Association.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) shared the speaking platform with Clark. Javits said that to condemn Dulles is, in effect, to condemn President Eisenhower. He defended the administration's foreign policy in general.

Red Weapons Silent In Spite of Threat

Chinese on Mainland Warn Guns May Open Up on Even Numbered Days Against Quemoy Outposts

Taipei, Formosa.—(AP)—Communist shore batteries facing the Quemoy held their fire into the evening today despite a loudspeaker threat to resume shelling on even-numbered days.

By the rules announced over Peiping radio on Oct. 25, the reds have not shelled the landing beaches and airstrip on Quemoy on even days but might shell the rest of the offshore islands. In practice, there has been no shelling on the last five even days before today.

Red loudspeakers six miles across the bay from Quemoy had indicated yesterday that shells would fall today. The Chinese Nationalist defenders of the islands took an unconcerned wait-and-see attitude.

693 Shells
The communists fired 693 shells at the Quemoy yesterday, an odd day on which they permit themselves to shoot at anything. Volume of fire in the red bombardment which began Aug. 23 has been light lately.

On Formosa a meeting at Nationalist headquarters commemorated the 22nd birthday of the late Sun Yat-sen, founder of the republic of China. President Chiang Kai-shek was chairman but his No. 2 man and her apparent Premier and Vice President Chen Cheng, did the talking.

Cheng said the Nationalists "are determined to shed our blood and sacrifice our lives if need be to counterattack the mainland" to end communist rule.

The theme of counterattack against the communists who threw them off the mainland in 1949 has been softened by the Nationalists since a joint communiqué three weeks ago with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles. In it the Nationalists renounced force as the principle

Door County Railway Sees $119,000 Gain In Freight Exchange

Sturgeon Bay — (AP)—The president of the Little Abnisco and Western Railway estimated Tuesday his road would gain gross revenue of $119,000 a year if it could exchange freight with Ann Arbor Railroad carlines.

Vernon M. Buchman was questioned at an interstate commerce commission hearing by G. S. David, attorney for the Ann Arbor and Wabash railroads.

Buchman said the A and W now handles about 1,403 freight cars a year on its 34 miles of track on the Door county peninsula.

He said that if the Lake Michigan railroad ferries stopped here for freight interchange, the number of cars handled by A and W would rise to about 2,160.

Death Ends Stormy Career Of Jim Curley

Last of Big City Political Bosses Dies in Boston

Boston.—(AP)—James Michael Curley, last of the big city political bosses died at 8:45 this morning at City hospital. He would have been 84 Nov. 20.

Curley was a Democratic leader for more than half a century, serving four terms as mayor of Boston, one term as governor of Massachusetts and four as a congressman.

Slowly failing health had marked Curley's last years and he was long under treatment for diabetes.

Death came a few hours after a team of seven doctors performed a 55 minute emergency operation in an attempt to clear a clotting of the artery which supplies the small bowel.

Curley had undergone surgery Nov. 4—election day—for an intestinal blockage. He apparently was making satisfactory progress until last night when he suffered a fainting spell. Earlier yesterday he had walked the hospital corridor and had posed for newspaper photographers.

After the "weak spell" which indicated the relapse last night, Mrs. Curley and Curley's two sons, the Rev. Francis X. Curley, S. J., of Holy Cross college and George J. Curley of Boston, were summoned. Father Curley gave his father the last rites of the Catholic Church.

Curley's long career was one of triumph and tragedy.

Two Jail Terms
He won election to the highest offices in his home city and state and once was high in the councils of his Democratic Nuns of Four Parishes in Chicago diocese of Catholic church—some with tongues visible—let fly in their own bowling tournament. The owner closed down for the day to provide nuns with an opportunity to vie for trophies. The habit seems regular but there are a few bowling shoes visible.

Two Hunters Confess Killing Game Warden

Conservation Man Shot After He Had Refused $10 Bribe From Poachers

Carmel, N.Y. — (AP)—Two New York City hunters have confessed killing an unarmed game warden who refused a $10 bribe to let them go after he caught them poaching for the second time on a 3,000-acre estate near here, police say.

Marlin Anzalone, 28, an unemployed bricklayer, and Mario Sesta, 17, a barber's assistant, are in the Putnam county jail here to await a hearing Friday on first degree murder charges. Anzalone and Sesta were arrested early yesterday in their Bronx homes and under questioning admitted the shotgun slaying Monday of 29-year-old Clarence Smith, father of three children, authorities said.

Father Present
They were taken later to the estate of L. Arthur Cushman, board chairman of party—but he also served two terms in jail.

His triumphs included election as governor of Massachusetts at the peak of his career in 1934. He served one term. He was mayor of Boston for four terms of four years each.

He claimed to have carried Massachusetts to Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 national election, and he stumped the country in the first election campaign of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

Curley contended the best selling novel, "The Last Hurrah" by Edwin O'Connor, was based on his career, but he said the hero, political boss Frank Skeffington, gave a distorted picture by failing to emphasize his accomplishments.

"The Last Hurrah" was made into a movie which had its premiere in Boston. Curley didn't attend.

Personal Tragedies
Curley later published his autobiography, titled "I'd Do It Again."

His tragedies were mainly personal.

Curley's first wife, Mary, who bore him nine children, died in 1929, a half dozen years before his career reached its zenith with his election as governor.

Curley was deeply devoted to his family but he lived to mourn the deaths of seven of them. He never had a grandchild.

Two sons who survive are George and Father Curley.

Curley's daughter, Mary, his official hostess when he was governor, died unexpectedly of a cerebral hemorrhage in February, 1950.

Curley's son Leo, a lawyer, dropped dead the next day. Besides the two surviving sons, Curley also left his second wife, Gertrude.

In recent years, Curley expressed a wish to live to be 125 "so I can bury my political enemies."

American Bakeries Company, at Patterson, N.Y., to Reenact the Crime

Capt. John Lawson of the state police said their statements indicated Sesta's father, Corrado, 44, was present — unarmed — at the shooting.

The elder Sesta was picked up in his Bronx home today and taken to the Hawthorne, N.Y., barracks for questioning by state police. Authorities said he would be arraigned later on a charge of accessory to a felony.

Lawson gave this account of the slaying as taken from the statements:

Smith spotted Anzalone and young Sesta, each armed with a 12-gauge shotgun, on the estate and recognized them. He confiscated their hunting licenses and said he would take them to a judge.

The men offered Smith $10 "to forget it," but the warden replied "no soap."

Shot in Back
Police said Smith was shot in the back from a distance of several feet and again through the head at very close range.

Each man admitted firing one shot, police said.

Anzalone and young Sesta were arrested by Smith for poaching Oct. 20. They were fined $10 each by a justice of the peace.

Bloodhounds traced a scent from the shooting scene to a spot on Route 311 where a farmer had seen a parked automobile with a Bronx license plate. This clue and a study of recent poaching arrests led to the arrests.

Safety Council Urges 'Dry' Yule Parties

Chicago — (AP)—The National Safety council asked its 8,000 business and industrial member firms today to keep their Christmas parties dry or cut them out.

"This is no attempt to dampen the traditional Christmas spirit," the council wrote its members.

"It is a practical attempt to eliminate a definite source of death and destruction on the highway at a time they hurt most—the Christmas season."

The Christmas party pattern in Chicago may give comfort to the council. A survey made by the employers' association shows that 14 per cent fewer companies will allow alcoholic beverages at parties this year than in 1957.

The safety council said its surveys show that a sizable percentage of Christmas traffic accidents occur in the early hours of the holiday period. Many of these, it said, can be traced to the office party and its highball hilarity.

First Summer Season Landing at South Pole Scheduled for Sunday

Auckland, New Zealand.—(AP)—The first landing at the South Pole during this Antarctic summer season will be made Sunday, the American headquarters for operation deepfreeze announced today.

The headquarters at Christchurch said two Neptune patrol planes will fly six U. S. navy men and six international geophysical year workers to the Pole. Three more navy men and two IGY workers will be flown down next Tuesday.

These 17 men will relieve 18 men who have been at the Pole almost a year. Two Neptunes will fly down Nov. 25 with equipment which cannot be dropped from transport planes.

2 Wisconsin Papers Cited For Coverage of Big Stories

French Lick, Ind.—(AP)—The Associated Press Managing Editors association today cited two Wisconsin dailies—the Wisconsin Rapids Tribune and the Eau Claire Leader and Telegram—for speed and excellence of coverage on two of the state's top news and picture stories of the last 12 months.

Fifty-seven newspapers and six radio stations in all won citations, highest honor bestowed by the APME to members of the world's largest news gathering organization.

The Tribune won a news citation for protecting fellow AP members on the shock-by-shock developments in the grisly Ed Gein case a year ago this month while the Leader & Telegram captured a photo citation for its swift, sure handling and processing of pictures of the death-dealing Colfax tornado last spring.

Cooperation Praised
Both newspapers went far beyond the normal bounds of cooperation, which is the well-spring of the AP, to share their news and photos with fellow members throughout the nation and the world.

The Tribune's citation read: "For outstanding cooperation in the news coverage of the shocking story involving the gruesome murders of two women and the finding of numerous skeletons on the farm of Edward Gein near Plainfield, Wis., in November, 1957.

"Editor Carl Otto provided the first tip on the story and he and his staff were extremely helpful in keeping AP abreast of developments as the details of the two murders and 14 grave robberies came to light."

The Leader & Telegram was cited as follows:

"For outstanding cooperation in providing newsphoto coverage of the destruction caused by a tornado that struck Colfax, Wis., and surrounding communities on June 4, 1958, bringing death to 28 persons and injuries to some 100 others. The Leader & Telegram rushed their pictures to the network transmitter stationed in their office and kept sharing their output with fellow members even after AP staffers arrived at the scene."

Letters and citations were presented to William Huffman Jr., publisher of the Tribune; and Marshall B. Atkinson, president and editor of the Leader & Telegram.

Southern Editor Asks Complete Facts on Integration Conflict

Problem Needs Honest Inquiry, Newspaper Association Told

BY MERRILL SWEDLUND
French Lick, Ind., — (AP)—A southern newspaper editor said today accurate, complete facts offer the only hope for a solution of "the tragic conflict" over school integration.

In his annual report as president at the opening of the Associated Press Managing Editors association convention, Coleman A. Harwell of the Nashville Tennessean said of the integration problem:

"Opinions are many and often extreme. They excite hatred, bitterness, violence. Amid all the resultant din and confusion, there is the constant and earnest query: What are the facts? Facts are the basis of reason, the only hope of a solution."

Responsibility
"A public that does not know the facts cannot act intelligently. A public that does not comprehend the facts is dangerous. That places a tremendous responsibility upon newspapers."

Reviewing the progress made in news presentation since the group was founded in French Lick 25 years ago, Harwell called the AP "an example of democracy at its best, a rare combination of the genius of cooperation and of competition."

Two other speakers stressed community service at the opening session of the silver anniversary convention, attended by almost 400 editors and their wives.

Ben Reese, co-chairman of the advisory board of American Press Institute at Columbia university, said a community has a right to expect its newspaper to "be guardian of the town . . . try its best to preserve public virtue ... fight for the rights of its readers."

"Newspapers must make themselves indispensable," said Reese, a former managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. "Public service is a sure way to do it."

Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman foundation, Harvard university, said, "The problem of making our cities fit to live in still invites newspaper attention."

Lyons, whose foundation offers advanced study at Harvard for newspapermen, said the press generally lagged in reporting news about science and education and even the supreme court.

1-Party Press
Recalling Adlai Stevenson's 1952 complaint about what he called a "1-party press," Lyons said:

"In most cities there is no debate in a political campaign. As the number of our papers shrinks, until most cities have only one, such a forum becomes increasingly impossible."

Vincent S. Jones, Rochester, N. Y., executive editor of the Gannett newspapers, reviewed news events and newspapering of the 25 years, using news pictures to illustrate the period.

"Twenty years ago, scenes of raw violence were common," Jones said in tracing the development of organized labor. "Today's battles are won at the bargaining table and on the voting machine."

Concerning televised political conventions, Jones said, "the conventions on TV had their moments, but they bored as many people as they enthralled, because they could not be edited."

Young Mother Charged in Child's Death

Houston—Police charged a young mother with murder early Tuesday in the death of her 4-week-old daughter, one of three children in the family who have died since 1956 of what was listed as pneumonia.

They accused Mrs. Iris Conrad, 19, of suburban Bellaire with killing the infant by "throwing her down on the floor." The child, Lynda Conrad, died Nov. 2.

Bellaire Police Chief Jack O'Brien would say only that Brien refused to show the statement to newsmen.

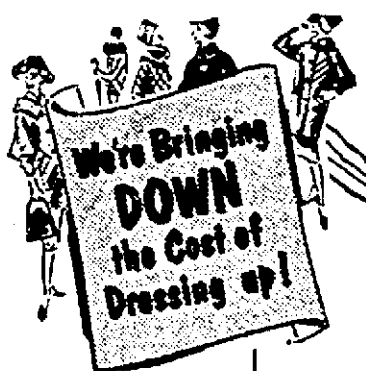

Mrs. Conrad's attorney, William M. Hatten, said he thought "the whole thing has been instigated by the insurance companies."

He said $750 was paid by an insurance company after the death of another Conrad child last May, but that there was no insurance on Lynda. The couple has one living child, Robert, 4.

Others who died include Richard, 3 months, and George, Jr., 9 months. Richard died Oct. 29, 1956, and George last May 15.

Mrs. Conrad told investigators in May that George died shortly after she found Robert stumping the baby on her "a statement was made and a charge was filed."

Authorities questioned the woman for about 10 hours before the charge was filed shortly after midnight. O'Brien said she was examined by the Harris county psychiatrist.

Killian Urges Greater Effort For Survival

Washington — Dr. — President Eisenhower's chief scientific adviser said Tuesday the nation must make a greater effort to achieve the scientific strength it needs for survival.

"Already some of the spurt that followed Sputnik has lost its force," Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., told the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities.

Killian is on leave from the presidency of Massachusetts Institute of Technology while serving as a special assistant to the president.

He said there is need for improving government policy making and for giving more and better training in the universities to future scientists and engineers.

"Not only the nation's security, but its long term health and economic welfare, the excellence of its scientific effort and the quality of its American higher education," Johnson, pastor of the First are affected by the care and thoughtfulness with which the government supports research," Killian said.

Asserting the number of Ph.D.'s becoming available for college teaching is less than a quarter of the number needed, he said more effective teaching methods must be found.

Young Sailor Stabbed By Blast of Shotgun

Police said that Charles Muchanick of the Great Lakes Naval Training station was carrying a hunting knife when a 12-gauge shotgun blast struck him along the belt line of his back.

The blast severed the knife and the blade of it was driven into Muchanick's back. He was hospitalized in fair condition.

His companion, Michael John Miller, 16, told police the gun fired as he was reloading it.

Chinese Red Moving Up

Hong Kong — A rising Chinese communist political star has been appointed mayor of Shanghai, communist press reports said Tuesday.

Ko Ching Shih, first secretary of the communist party of Shanghai, fills the post vacated by Chen Yi, now foreign minister.

Ko recently was elected a member of the top red inner sanctum, the political bureau of the central committee of the communist party. Apparently he sped in front of many other comrades, since the Shanghai mayoralty is considered a stepping stone to senior communist posts, Hong Kong obituary of the communist party servers said.

Ko, a party member since 1926, is little known outside China.

Two Serbians Make Strange Cyclists

Belgrade, Yugoslavia — When Draga Brankovic and Boza Marjanovic go cycling the people of their Serbian village don't pay much attention.

But any stranger in Osiponica certainly will turn to watch the two men, who form a peculiar tandem.

Both are disabled. Brankovic is paralyzed and cannot walk, while Marjanovic is blind, following a bomb accident. Neither is capable of riding a bicycle by himself. But they can do it together. The paralyzed man steers while the blind one sits behind and does the pedaling.

EMMY LOU By Marty Links

rag doll," sewing by color for young homemakers, rhinestone setters, leather crafts, small looms and tapestry sets will occupy expanding minds. Treasure sets of magic enable children to perform tricks at their own magician show.

No. 1 item on any little girl's letter to Santa Claus is, of course, a doll. Dolls, made of vinyl with rooted hair that can be washed, combed and curled, dolls with rhinestone buckled high heeled shoes and earrings, dolls dressed in bridal gowns, sport togs, evening dresses and daytime frocks line store shelves.

Doll Accessories

Glamour accessories for the doll, including wardrobe additions, jewelry, handbags and lingerie sets, provide extra gifts. Dress-up high heels for the little miss herself or a cosmetic kit complete with lipstick, compact, perfume and manicure set will fulfill many holiday wishes.

New in the collection of stuffed animals is a large multi-colored dinosaur. Snapping turtles, mother kangaroo with baby in her pouch, a wooden tree filled with specimens of colorful birds, stalking tigers and miniature replicas of fur-like covered toys can be used for play or decoration in a child's room.

One manufacturer has modeling wood in a packaged set. It is used similar to modeling clay, but dries hard, like wood structures. For a small child, fascinated by the animal kingdom, a wide range of interest is provided in a Noah's Ark set with about 40 animals.

Suggested Gifts

Electric wood-burning sets and battery operated portable planetariums are suggested gifts for the advanced child. A number of games, played like television quiz programs, will provide party-type amusement.

Junior-sized sports equipment, such as football and baseball equipment, boxing gloves and bowling sets are favored selections. A new type bowling set uses water as a weight to fill the pins and ball, permitting the game to be played on the lawn as well as indoors.

Atomic pistols are used to shoot at a target which launches a space ship when a bull's eye is scored. Fleets of cars from flat trucks, observation coach buses to European sports car models and military conveyances, are available in a number of sizes.

Hoax Costs Illinois Motorist $50 Fine

Madison — A man identified as Carl Weber, 20, route 5, Pontiac, Ill., was fined $50 in superior court Monday on a disorderly conduct charge after admitting hoaxing traffic officers of three counties into escorting him to Madison. Weber convinced Stephenson county, Ill., police his mother was dying in a Madison hospital. They drove him to the Green county line in Wisconsin where police of that county escorted him to meet Traffic Patrolman Paul Horstmeier at the Dane county line. David Niemann, Dane county police dispatcher, made a phone check that failed to show Weber's mother hospitalized. Weber admitted he was in a hurry to get to Madison to see a girl friend.

Curriculum Depends on Culture, Capabilities of Each Student

Superintendent of Schools

There are many variations of opinion regarding the public school curriculum as it should apply to all children. There are those who believe that the course of study should be academic and that one should not be a student unless capable of mastering the academic program. There are others who feel schools have a job to prepare the child to live in society.

Some people call this life adjustment. Of course, there are many people who believe the curriculum of the school should encompass both ideas. This is based on the generalization that children vary in native learning capacity and in the mastery of knowledge. If this idea is accepted, then one must accept the idea of a variable curriculum.

This is the third in a series of articles being published each day this week, American Education week.

Another question of curriculum is based on the statement that certain areas of learning should be common to all students. The development of the power of communication is a common necessity of all boys and girls. The basic requirements of communication similar to that offered by the schools of today.

This does not mean that all boys and girls will take the entire course in technical English, but it does mean that every boy and girl will take English to develop power of transfer of ideas. It will mean that all will learn to read to get ideas from the written thoughts of others.

Value in Life
Another problem in curriculum is that of developing learnings that will have value in the life of the student. It would be wasteful of the effort of the child to learn that which will not function in his life. It would also be costly to a community that created such a program. Although the public school because its program is not the duplicate of the program that parents had when they were students, public surveys show and girls. The basic requirements of communication similar to that offered by the schools of today.

Knowledge, vocation, and Work Quality
Quality of work is dependent on the student's application to his work. Little is known about the motivation of the child to do an excellent piece of learning.

Again, guidance in school and in the home is needed to create in children the desire for learning in the child.

It is expected that in the majority of instances the boy or girl with aptitude for college work should take a course in high school that makes it possible for him to enter college. Because of future demands for skilled and professional background, it is important for capable students to prepare for the positions needed in our culture.

Therefore, the curriculum should be developed to care for the demands of our culture and in line with the capabilities and interests of our boys and girls.

Balance of Power

It cannot be said that the electorate planned it that way, but the mechanics of state government organization are such that there will be balanced responsibilities at Madison for the next two years in spite of the heavy vote given to the Democratic victors in the recent elections.
Because only half of the state senate membership was elected this year, the Republican party retains the power to restrain any impulse to rash or impetuous action on the part of the new Democratic administration that will take over, and can perform as the kind of counterweight that is sometimes held by critics to be the ideal arrangement in a representative system of government.
The Republicans may have their difficulties in holding together their nominal state senate majority on some issues. The majority of Republicans that exists on paper may be eroded somewhat on some questions by the tendency of a few to rebel against party ties and usual notions of party responsibility. Yet on such questions as organization of the house, these men may be expected to follow their nominal pledges and remain with the party of their original choice. With Republican control of senate committees, any disposition for impetuosity on the part of the new governor or the eager new Democratic majority in the lower house can be reined.

Right to Work—A Dead Issue?

Last week's election was a blow to conservatives in more ways than one. "Right to work" proposals, ardently backed by many conservatives and bitterly opposed by the leaders of organized labor, lost in five of the six states in which they were on the ballot. Kansas was the only state to approve a right to work law. In addition many observers feel that California's Sen. William Knowland lost so heavily partly because of his support of the right to work idea.
Thus whatever one's view on the subject it is only being realistic to recognize that as of this moment, at least, a majority of the American people are against right to work laws. Probably those states that have them will keep them, but there is little likelihood that the idea will spread during the next several years.
In general the states that have adopted such laws are dominated by rural and small-town interests; farmers and those allied with them seem to be most easily persuaded that compulsory unionism is a bad and dangerous thing. Only one such state, Indiana, can be described as very industrialized, and it will be interesting to observe how the law works there over a period of years. Certainly the votes in Cali-

Dangerous Practical Jokes

The past several weeks have seen two practical jokes which were not funny to the law enforcement agencies involved.
The first was a bogus telephone call to the Outagamie county sheriff's office purporting to report a bank robbery in Freedom. The second was a call Saturday night to the sheriff's office and to an ambulance service reporting a serious accident at Highways 10 and 114. The caller was a woman who told the sheriff's office that "the driver has no pulse."
The first caller was identified and paid a fine for giving false information to police. The second caller was not identified. Since Highways 10 and 114 have junctions at two points — in Winnebago and Calumet counties — which adjoin Outagamie county, law enforcement officers from all three counties rushed to both possible scenes.
One Winnebago county squad car rushed through the congested area just south of Appleton, another through the city of Menasha. The Outagamie county squad happened to be near the area. The Calumet county squad had to come from Kiel. The ambulance service, rushing

Sen. Goldwater's Reelection
Attributed to Conservatism

Much to the chagrin of the Social Democrats in New York and elsewhere, Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, was reelected by an impressive margin over his challenger, Gov. Ernest McFarland, former Democratic majority leader of the Senate. Goldwater, an unflinching conservative, won 56 per cent of the vote in a state where Democratic registrations run 2 to 1 ahead of Republican registrations.
While the Republican debacle was developing elsewhere in the country, Sen. Goldwater could say truthfully that he had seen it coming, knew why it was to be expected, and had given his party fair warning.
On April 8, 1957, when President Eisenhower had reversed his course and of-

Meanwhile, this extraordinary vote of confidence given to a Democratic party which has been a weak and disheartened minority during most of the years of this century will provide the opportunity for training and discovering the cadres of leadership without which it cannot prosper and without which the two party status now restored to Wisconsin probably cannot be maintained.
It is no disparagement of Gov.-Elect Nelson to recall that he would not have been summoned for a gubernatorial nomination this year, except that the Democrats were extremely limited in presentable men. Nor is it any aspersion upon the Republicans, long in power and with a comparatively richer stable of personalities, to say that he could not have aspired successfully at this stage of his career had he been a Republican.
It is often said of men that they tend to rise to their responsibilities. There are men in the new legislature about whom we have profound reservations, as to purpose and creed. Let us hope that they rise, and let us give them opportunity without cavil. Let us also hope that they remember that there is little in the history of this state, considering its whole experience, to encourage radical change. Progress is not revolution.

fornia, Ohio and Washington show that in the industrialized states members of union labor are accepting their leaders' arguments that such laws are designed to break up unions.
The Post-Crescent has believed that right to work has been at best a distracting issue, and we suspect that its elimination from active consideration in most of the states will be all to the good. We have never seen why employers should be forbidden to sign contracts containing compulsory unionism provisions, any more than they should be required by law to sign such contracts. The less government sticks its fingers into the affairs of industry and its employees, the better.
We hope, however, that union labor's leaders in the glow of victory will not become cocky and think that it gives them a carte blanche to go around muscling people into unions by various coercive means, or to take advantage of union shop contracts by ignoring the rights and interests of individual union members or minority groups who may oppose their rule. The best argument for a right to work law is corruption, dictatorship and gangsterism among the leaders of labor. Labor's victory this year could turn sour if its leaders misinterpret the election results.

to an emergency, was at both intersections minutes apart.
It was raining Saturday night, and visibility was not good. If a car had come out of a side road into the path of any of the five emergency vehicles, a serious accident might have occurred.
Outagamie County Police Captain Ronald Decker does not find these humorists very funny.
Decker says his men will not drop their search for the caller of last weekend. He adds that policemen have no choice but to answer emergency calls. False calls endanger people all over this area — those in the path of emergency vehicles and those in areas left unprotected by the calls.
This reminds us of the practical joker who took down the stop signs in Calumet county several months ago and caused an accident which killed a man. He hasn't been found, either — yet.
We might add that Post-Crescent reporters and photographers, trying to give you on-the-spot coverage, hurry out to reported bank robberies and accidents. The same danger applies to us, and we don't think false calls are funny either.

ances to defend his spending, especially that represented in his call for foreign aid.
The result is as Sen. Goldwater predicted, but the man who saw the writing on the wall fortunately survived, beating the same opponent whom he unseated in 1952 by five times the edge which he registered then. The result does great credit to the good sense of the people of Arizona.
BEGGAR WON'T EXTEND CREDIT
This economic note was reported by Julian Scheer of the Charlotte News: A beggar took up a position in a train station and stopped a well-to-do businessman as he was rushing for the train.
"Sorry," said the man. "I'm in a hurry. I'll see you here tomorrow and give you something then."
"That won't do," said the beggar. "You have no idea how much money I lose giving credit."

Air School Adds Frills, Taxpayer Foots Bills

The Air Force academy at Colorado Springs — chosen from 400 possible sites — is coming along nicely, the Tax Foundation reports, despite a bit of trouble with esthetics and landscaping.
This, naturally, has added some to the original costs, estimated at about $135 million. What the final costs will be seems to be disputed. The air force says the project will end up in the $160 million class, while some congressmen who nosed around the place figure it will come closer to $301 million.
But then every school can't have a 28-mile square campus, which is what the academy presently includes. The original 10,000 acres weren't enough, so some 7,800 acres more were added at a cost of $4.3 million.
Described by the congressmen, though, the place ought to be right pretty. They figure around $13 million has been spent moving earth from one part of the campus to another, and about $4 million more went into retaining walls to prevent erosion of what wasn't moved. A 22-mile irrigation system was laid down; 59 miles of water mains and 70 miles of roads and bridges to tie in the campus end to end. Two creeks were diverted and two highways were relocated, adding nearly $2 million to the cost, but there are no present plans to move a railroad that runs through the place. Maybe the congressmen shouldn't have mentioned it.

So much for the landscaping. Esthetics upped the cost a bit, too. One building, for example, costing $3 million (original estimate: $1.5 million) is air conditioned. The idea is not to keep it cool but to get air into the place. There aren't any windows. Congressmen told that the air force felt "windows opened at various angles would detract from the esthetic standards of the academy."
Congressmen had something to say about the academic building, too, which now stands at $5.8 million above original estimates. "There were many factors involved, naturally.
Among them were, the congressmen said, "incomplete planning and haste in preparing designs and awarding contracts." We'd suggest another: Off they went into the wild blue yonder with complete disregard, if not utter contempt, for the taxpayer who must put up the dollars for the foolishness and frills.

Railroad Improves Line in City

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Nov. 15, 1879.
The Chicago and North Western Railway has built a house for their switch engine on the corner of Superior street and line of track . . . to which point the turntable has also been removed.
The company is bringing stone from Fond du Lac to rip-rap the river line of their side-tracks in the city and thus protect them from the water wash.
The company is now putting finishing touches on the side-track which accommodates our water-power manufacturing interests.
It is stated that the total expense of this improvement has been upwards of $100,000 to the company.

Duluth Gives Warm Welcome To Visitors

The welcome, Duluth, Minn., extends to the stranger within its gates include the visitor's private automobile.
The city on the shore of Lake Superior has adopted an ordinance providing courtesy parking privileges for tourists and delegates to conventions being held there. The conventioner is issued a sticker to be placed inside his windshield which permits the recipient to occupy any public parking space — metered or non-metered — without being subject to penalty. These stickers are good for 72 hours after issuance.
For the tourist driving a private car with other than Minnesota tags, a courtesy card can be issued by any duly authorized agent of the Department of Public Safety. This card is placed on the visiting auto in lieu of a summons for a parking violation.
Duluth may be motivated by considerations of the difficulties of collecting overtime parking fines from drivers from other states. Still, the probabilities are that this gesture to outsiders is a worthwhile way of making friends and influencing people.

Under the Capitol Dome
Dems Lack Experience
In Legislative Affairs

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — It will be a strangely changed legislature that will meet in Madison a few months from now. With the Democrats in control of the lower house and in a position to bargain their way into working control of the upper house, in all probability, the new legislature will attract more attention than any that has taken its seats in a long generation.
Chubby George Molinaro of Kenosha, a Democratic veteran and a workhorse for his party, already has put in his bid for the speakership. He is assuming, he says, that Robert Huber of West Allis, who has been the floorleader and quarterback of the Democratic minority in recent sessions, will defer to him. He may be right, but it wouldn't be surprising if Huber privately feels that his claims upon this honor are at least as great as Molinaro's. The question is who will be able to get all the Democratic votes, and that has not yet been settled.
Rather more difficult for the new Democratic rulers of the legislature is the fact they have relatively few experienced or tried hands for committee chairmanships, at a time when the whole state will be watching performance more attentively than usual, and some of the legislative problems to be confronted will be severe. As one example, if Molinaro gets the speaker's rostrum, the assembly won't have a single Democrat who has ever sat on the finance committee — a committee that will hold the key to party success or failure in the new session.

QUALITY
It is one of the characteristics of the Democratic prosperity that it has shown itself most abundantly in the cities, but that the cities typically don't send men with qualities of leadership to the legislature.
One of the private concerns of many of the earnest Democratic planners, for example, is the fact that while Milwaukee county uniformly returns a heavy Democratic delegation to the legislature, it tends to lean heavily upon ordinary or second-rate representatives.
To some degree that has been true of Madison also, in spite of the fact that Madison is the intellectual center of the party.
The capital city will have five assemblies in the new session, all Democrats. But only one of them would be considered for anything approaching heavy responsibilities in the legislature. He is Carl Thompson, of Stoughton, who is already pointing for the state senate vacancy in Dane county resulting from the election of Gaylord Nelson to the governorship. Yet parties manage to work with what they have. In 1933 the Democrats were even more surprised to find themselves suddenly in control of the state legislative process. They had to rely on totally untried leaders, including the late Jerome Fox of Chilton, and Cornelius Young of Milwaukee, the utility lobbyist of today, who became speaker at a very tender age.

GOP SALVAGE
The Republicans lost some promising and useful men in the legislative wreckage of last Tuesday. They also lost some drones. But it is a curious fact that their key men survived—perhaps another indication of the selective instincts of the electorate which shows through the landslide statistics in several ways.
Warren Grady of Port Washington, the leader of the assembly caucus of last year, won a new term, as did Sen. Robert Travis of Platteville. Perhaps more important, the two senior leaders of the state senate, Frank Panzer of Dodge county and Jess Miller of Richland county, survived the strong Democratic tide in their neighborhoods.
These men will sit in a Democratic-controlled statehouse for the first time in their considerable political careers. Chances are that the experience will be a more effective test of their qualities than was their performance during the years of easy control by their party.
The record of the new administration, and the issues for the 1960 election, will emerge to a considerable degree as a result of their conscience, attentiveness and responsibility.

May Turn Sites Of History Into Parking Space

Tourists who visit the site of the Antietam battlefield this year may be among the last to view the historic area in its present state.
When the National Park service acquired this ground much of the battle zone was left in private hands. Now a nearby city is eyeing those private acres as the site for a housing area.
The case of Antietam is not unique. Gettysburg is faced by the same sort of encroachment. Many historic government buildings, having outlived their utility, are threatened with demolition in order to put high-priced land to work as parking space. The huge federal interstate highway program menaces various sites of national interest.
The pressure groups are contending. Some say that progress must be made, that the land belongs to the living; others hope that historic sites need not be sacrificed. The matter must be approached with reason and good sense, but it is to be hoped that a feeling for the American tradition will assert itself.
Nothing that might serve to inspire coming generations, and to strengthen their respect for the national tradition, should be heedlessly destroyed.

East Germans Plan Talks on Red Recall

tewohl said, was neither sensible nor legal. Grotewohl's announced East German-Russian negotiations this way: "I hope that a new settlement will be reached concerning Soviet troops in negotiations between the Soviet Union and the East German republic. I hope that this new settlement will encourage the western powers to carry out the same step with their own troops. I believe we will find enough people in both parts of Germany who will fight for that. Thereby we will come one step closer to a peace treaty."

Sees Pact's Revision There were no immediate indications in Berlin whether a new agreement would concern all Russian troops in East Germany, or perhaps only the Soviet troops and control personnel in East Berlin.

East German Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz, however, told the same news conference that Russian-East German agreements over Berlin would presumably be revised "within the scope of a total settlement." He left open whether revisions of Berlin's status would be part of the new settlement on Russian troops.

Khrushchev demanded Monday in Moscow that the 4-power occupation of Berlin be brought to an end. He hinted that the Soviet Union would end its treaty obligations to insure western access to the isolated city, 110 miles inside East Germany.

Diplomatic missions in Moscow reported today that the East German mission was circulating an 18-page document charging West Germany with aggressive acts. The printed document appeared Monday, indicating coordination between the Kremlin and East Berlin on a drive to oust the western allies.

The United States, Britain and France have indicated they intend to stand fast in Germany, protecting West Berlin by military force if necessary. Washington and London contend that the Soviet Union cannot, by itself, scrap the agreements reached after World war II for occupation of Germany.

Grotewohl called for the signing of a World war II peace treaty with Germany. Agreement among the Big Four on terms of a treaty has been blocked by the cold war which split Germany into two camps.

All the indications here were that Russia and East Germany were about to launch a big diplomatic offensive to force the western powers to acknowledge the existence of the communist East German government which the west refuses to recognize on the ground that it is a communist puppet without popular basis. It was too early to tell whether this offensive would be accompanied by a nerve war against isolated Berlin.

There are an estimated 400,000 Soviet soldiers in the Soviet zone of Germany and about 300,000 U. S., British and French soldiers in western Germany.

Terms Not Given Grotewohl did not elaborate under what conditions the Soviet Union might agree with communist East Germany to pull out its troops.

In the past the Russians have made allied withdrawal from West Germany the condition for the pullout of their own troops.

The western powers have refused to pull out their forces unless an agreement could be reached on the reunification of Germany through free elections.

The East German premier summoned the news conference — his first in years — to present a white book denouncing the so-called "aggressive policies" of the West German government. It could not be determined immediately whether this was the same document being circulated in Moscow.

Earlier, East Germany's official communist party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, urged the signing of a peace treaty for Germany to avert the danger of war over divided Berlin.

Youngster Tells How His Mother Was Slain

Independence, Mo. — (AP) — Anthony Shay, Jr. is 7 and this is how he told police what happened when his mother answered a knock yesterday and found his father at the door:

Army Honors Man Carried As Deserter

San Diego, Texas — (AP) — Forty years ago Gabriel Garcia ran out into no-man's land in France to save a wounded comrade. Yesterday the army, which had carried him as a deserter since 1919, honored him for his courage.

Garcia, 68, a farm laborer who speaks only Spanish, was the honor guest at San Antonio's Veterans day celebration. A military plane flew him to San Antonio and back to his home here. A general pinned medals on his chest and spoke of his valor. He sat on a reviewing stand with the brass and watched troops march by.

When it was over, Garcia said through an interpreter: "What else is there to say but to thank my country and my government from the bottom of my heart?"

Garcia was wounded by heavy enemy fire near St. Juvin, France, Oct. 16, 1918, while rescuing a comrade in no-man's land. He was hospitalized at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, from July to September, 1919, then told he could leave. Someone gave him some papers and Garcia assumed he was discharged. Later he lost the papers.

Last March he asked medical treatment at the veterans administration office here. There he learned he was carried as a deserter.

His record was straightened out and yesterday Lt. Gen. G. S. Meloy, Jr., Fourth army commander, pinned on Garcia's chest the distinguished service cross, the purple heart and the World war I victory medal with three battle clusters.

Proxmire Backs Texas Senator

Washington — (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Tuesday he and other Democrats he considers liberals will support strongly the legislative program laid down by senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas. "I think Lyndon Johnson has made an excellent party leader," Proxmire said. "He has been fair to everybody. In my judgment it would be wrong for a majority leader to reflect the attitude of either liberals or the southern conservatives of the party."

"I think his actions in the last session on economic recession legislation, on bills affecting the supreme court and on civil rights were commendable."

Proxmire also said he considers Johnson's legislative program as "excellent." "any high explosive. Richard found the shell in an alley."

600 Shares of Stock Bought by Dollar Averaging Not Unwise

BY WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. We are an average American family. My husband's salary is $5,500 a year and we have $1,000 in the bank. We have two children and are planning on sending them to college. I would like to know if it is a good policy to put all our investments in one basket — namely the 600 shares of North American Aviation we hold.

A. That depends on how you have built your basket. If you have woven it strand by strand through the time-tested method of dollar averaging, it should grow and come over the years. This goes for any stock that invests in a good stock which you buy steadily, by putting the same amount of money in at set intervals. But, if you have purchased those 600 shares in one lump sum, you may be making a mistake. This isn't a rap at North American Aviation. It's a growth stock of a good company in an expanding industry. However, it has had some wide price moves. That's fine for people who dollar average. But this stock's value in the market should be kept in mind. It can give the horrors to someone who buys a large number of shares in one full show. Gradual increases over the years.

Actually, it's surprising that stocks of sound conservative utility companies like the one you are near perfect for people who are what is known as "defensive" issues, because they usually aren't affected too badly by severe market declines. We would like to see you in July, 1957, I was advised by my broker to buy 25 shares of U. S. Envelope common stock at 28 as a "special situation, very favorable." But the stock fell as low as 18 and isn't much above that now. Furthermore, the dividend has been cut.

When I buy stock, I look for a profit. I feel that if I have to wait two years or so, it's not worth the effort. Don't you agree?

A. No. And it's more than doubtful that you'll find many people who read this column agreeing with you. You're not an investor. You're a speculator—and not a very good one at that.

There's nothing wrong with speculating. However, when you expect every risk you take to turn up a fast profit, you're unreasonable.

You bought U. S. Envelope at a time when the stock market was getting set for a decline, as it reflected the recession. The company's earnings dipped and the latest quarterly dividend was trimmed from 30 cents to 20 cents.

For the long haul, things should work out well for this company. But, for in-and-out-ers like you, who knows?

Soviets Well on Way To Getting Leadership In Both Asia, Africa

Cause of Bad Relations Is Feeling That Other Side Will be Aggressor

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

In almost all the talks I had in Moscow, not only with Mr. K. but with other officials and with Soviet editors, I was asked: what could be done to bring about better relations between our two countries.

The question is a hard one to answer. For the basic issue between us arises from the fact that the Soviet Union, and now alongside it Red China, are well on their way to achieving the leadership of Asia and of

This is the third in a series of four articles written after a recent visit to Moscow.

Africa. At the root of the profound and abiding suspicion which each of us has for the other lies this bid for leadership and its challenge to the Western position and to western influence.

The cause of the bad relations is the suspicion, felt on each side of the Iron-Curtain, that the other side intends to commit aggression. The suspicion arises from a belief that in the long run neither side can tolerate the other.

Force of Example But we delude ourselves if we do not realize that the main power of the communist states lies not in their clandestine activity but in the force of their example. In the visible demonstration of what the Soviet Union has achieved in 40 years, of what Red China has achieved in about 10 years.

The inner moving force of Soviet suspicion is the belief that the United States and the governments of the non-communist countries will, unless compelled to do so, never allow Russia and China to consummate the revolution which they are leading in Asia and in Africa.

They are certain in their own minds they will win the primacy of Asia and of Africa not by going to war but by avoiding a war that would ruin their economic achievements. They are, like most men, self-centered and they cannot believe we really think they will commit military aggression when they themselves are so sure they must avoid a war. So when we talk about defensive armaments they think we are deceiving them, that our military policy is to surround them in preparation for an attack on them in order to halt their revolutionary rise to world leadership.

Prophecy of Lenin I am reasonably sure that this is the way they see the military issue between us. Moreover, this is what the prophet Lenin prophesied, and in the Soviet Union the authority of Lenin, as currently interpreted by the powers that be, is treated as infallible and more than human. Our policy of military containment with its forward positions on their own borders is in their minds conclusive proof that Lenin was right. They suspect us profoundly, and that is why they are stubbornly reluctant to negotiate any concession which would give us even a slight tactical, much less a strategic, advantage in case of war.

The corresponding suspicion on our side arises, as we know, from the belief that insofar as the Soviet Union and Red China gain in military power, they are certainly bound to use it as an instrument of policy in order to complete their domination of Asia and of Africa. Thus suspicion is, I have no doubt, well founded and it is a conclusive reason for making sure that we do not lose the race of armaments.

Our problem here is not whether we can afford to keep up the race. It is absurd to say we cannot afford it. Nor does the problem arise from any irreparable technological inferiority on our part. For us, the crucial problem of armaments is political and psychological: how to keep the American and the West European democracies ready and willing to support armaments without their becoming so obsessed with weapons that they have neither the means nor the understanding nor the will to meet the real Soviet challenge in Asia.

The Soviet oligarchy can spend on armaments what it wants, and no questions asked. With us, the necessary appropriations cannot be had, or so our political leaders think, without a great scare campaign.

Soviet challenge is very formidable indeed. Even to a casual visitor it is evident that the only safe assumption is that the Russians have mastered the modern technology and that their bureaucracy, directed by a powerful government and working on an obedient population, is capable of achieving what they have set themselves to do.

What we need is an agonizing reappraisal of our own habits and notions. We must learn to keep ourselves armed without working ourselves up into a frenzy of threats and of fear. This is not easy for a democracy to do, but it is necessary and, once the reason for it is understood by the leaders of American opinion, it can be done.

We must learn also to win friends without asking them to be our military allies. This can be done only by encouraging them to follow the neutral course which their instinct tells them to take. The policy of military pacts to contain and push back the communist revolution is not only incapable of working successfully. Its effect is to antagonize the masses of the people and so to assist the expansion of communism.

We must, I have been convinced, reappraise and review the policy of foreign aid. As it is now practiced, it is fair to describe it as a program of subsidies to governments which are threatened with the rise of communism among their people. Without meaning to say all or even some of these subsidies should be discontinued, I submit we shall not meet the Soviet challenge unless we stop looking at the underdeveloped nations as military bulwarks and bastions and adopt a new and different objective in the uncommitted world.

Effective Way The communists are expanding in Asia because they are demonstrating a way, at present the only obviously effective way, of raising quickly the power and the standard of living of a backward people. There are a number of reasons why I think India is the key country. It is, for one thing, a very big country known to all of Asia as a land of deep poverty. To make a showplace of a small island like Formosa or for that matter of Puerto Rico is a good thing to do. But it is not convincing. For the communists are proving their case in big countries like Russia and China. We shall have to prove our case, that material progress can be had with civil liberty, in a big country.

For another thing, India has the necessary structure, including a civil service with a good tradition — something which does not exist in equal measure anywhere in Asia, except in Japan.

Gandhi Heritage But in my mind the clinching reason for making the demonstration in India is that the spiritual heritage of which Gandhi was the great teacher, is of all the ideologies of the world the most radically different from that of Leninism. Yet, though it is different, it is, like communism, addressed to the suffering masses of the people.

I know there is a notion among many Americans that the Indians are more than halfway along the road to being communists. That notion is based in part on the fact that the Indians mean to become a social democratic state. In the main the notion that they are half-communist is based on the fact that on many issues of foreign policy the Indian government differs from ours and makes great efforts to keep on good terms with the Soviet Union and with its powerful and dangerous neighbor, Red China.

Nevertheless, the Indians who are indoctrinated in the Gandhi tradition are acutely conscious of the gulf between the Soviet system and themselves. They are not totalitarian determinists. That is more than can be said with the same confidence about quite a number of the other peoples who are not yet within the communist orbit.

If there is any other way of meeting the communist challenge in Asia, I have not heard of it. The tide is running in favor of communism almost everywhere. Russia and China are making a demonstration to which the west is offering no alternative. I do not know where else a non-communist alternative can now be demonstrated.

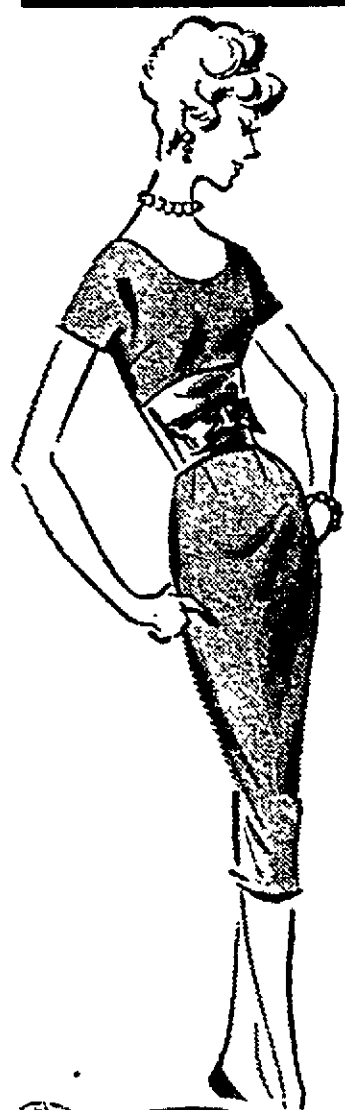

It is given the fact that only in India, outside of the communist orbit, could a successful demonstration carry conviction to the great masses of the people who are looking for a better way of life.

Green Bay's People Go To Unplanned Confusion

BY JACK GLASSNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County Civil Defense Coordinator Andrew J. Schiltz says he does not think Milwaukee evacuees would travel as far north as Outagamie County. In the event of a national emergency and attack, Outagamie county then would have only the 31,000 persons from the Green Bay target area to worry about.

Of this total, 18,000 would come into Appleton, according to Schiltz's current planning.

Civil defense, throughout its planning, has assumed a great deal of private, individual cooperation. Thus, most of these 18,000 persons would arrive in Appleton in private cars.

Let's assume that about 5,000 people arrive in buses and trucks. That leaves 13,000 in private cars.

Assume that five persons are riding in each car. That's about 2,600 cars added to Appleton's regular traffic load. These figures, of course, ignore the 8,000 persons pouring into Kaukauna and the 5,000 arriving in Kimberly (which has a population of about 4,500).

These cars, buses and trucks would pour into Appleton over Highways 96 and 10 and County Trunk KK. These highways enter Appleton at relatively congested points, unlike the broad and open expanse along Highway 41 north and east of Appleton.

Parking Problem

Parking these cars will be a major problem, although the problem probably has enough parking area. The public about. This confusion is, of course, to the eventual detriment of those living in the Green Bay target area.

This is the third in a series of eight articles on civil defense in the Fox River valley. Outagamie county in this series is used as an example of civil defense status. Most of the state's 71 counties are in identical condition, with the exception of Brown and the six counties in the Metropolitan Milwaukee area.

No One Knows

There is no one in authority in Outagamie county at this time with any conception of the total civil defense situation in the county and its reception center rather than a target area. However, it is true that the city should have some system for possible evacuation. But—and it is a large qualification—there are no routes to take evacuees to their temporary homes in Appleton. And this is the purpose of Appleton under the state survival plan.

Despite some disagreements with the state survival plan, Brown county authorities have proceeded to formulate a civil defense plan and an organization to carry it out.

The big question in any target area is just what people will do when the order comes to evacuate. Pamphlets have been issued by Brown County Coordinator John Holloway, talks are given to social, church, fraternal and service organizations and some representatives of these have been sent to civil defense training sessions. But, unfortunately, the only way to tell if this groundwork has been successful is an actual evacuation.

Appleton Post-Crescent A12
Wednesday, Nov. 12, 1958

In many ways, civil defense is like an elaborate machine which has to work the first time it is tried.

In a few U.S. cities, notably Portland, Ore., partial evacuations have been tried and civil defense authorities have been able to test their evacuation routes for capacities and to see how people will cooperate.

How Will We Act?

Of course, it is impossible to duplicate the emotional impact of an attack alarm. Would people hysterically flee, blocking roads and dashing helter-skelter?

No one knows.

One thing which undoubtedly would lead to confusion, traffic jams and a terrific amount of congestion is that the Green Bay target area evacuation south to Appleton is planned to feed into cities only. It might be more reasonable to split the stream of cars off into reception centers outside the cities, then ease the people into Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute and Appleton. However, civil defense thinking in Outagamie county proceeds only on the basis of putting people into the cities with no idea of what to do with them once they are there.

Under the state plan, welfare centers (none of which are even in the planning stage in Outagamie county) would care for 4,500 to 8,000 people. It takes a minimum of 52 key, experienced people and about 500 volunteer workers to staff a center. To get these people, civil defense workers would have to contact hotel employees, cooks experienced in preparing food for large groups (workers for church dinners would be one resource), clerical workers, persons with experience in the clothing business and governmental employees.

Nobody Contacted

No one in civil defense in Outagamie county has contacted any of these employment divisions with one exception. Schiltz held one outdoor mass feeding session, utilizing the American Legion auxiliary. But it was a 1-shot affair and the contact has not been maintained on anything like a stand-by basis. It is this sort of exercise, this sort of planning which is vital to civil defense in this area—and it is precisely in this sort of exercise that civil defense is so weak.

Green Bay evacuees will be fleeing Brown county to Outagamie county (31,000), Shawano (28,250), Waupaca (22,250), Oconto (13,500), Kewaunee (11,000), Door (8,500) and Marinette (9,500). This is predicated by the state plan. The Green Bay target area plan, about to be released, uses similar figures, but they are backed up by more precise information.

One of the difficulties with the state plan is that it assumes that Milwaukee target area evacuees will not enter the areas set aside for Green Bay evacuees. It is highly probable that a stream of evacuees fleeing north from Milwaukee will collide with Green Bay evacuees fleeing south in the Appleton vicinity. The result is sure to be chaos.

Hold Meetings?

It would seem valuable to suggest that the governmental and civil defense leaders of the entire Fox River valley hold some meetings to determine just how many people their cities can care for and just how to direct the evacuees into their cities.

Industrial leaders of Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna and Green Bay have set up an industrial survival conference to be held in Appleton in December.

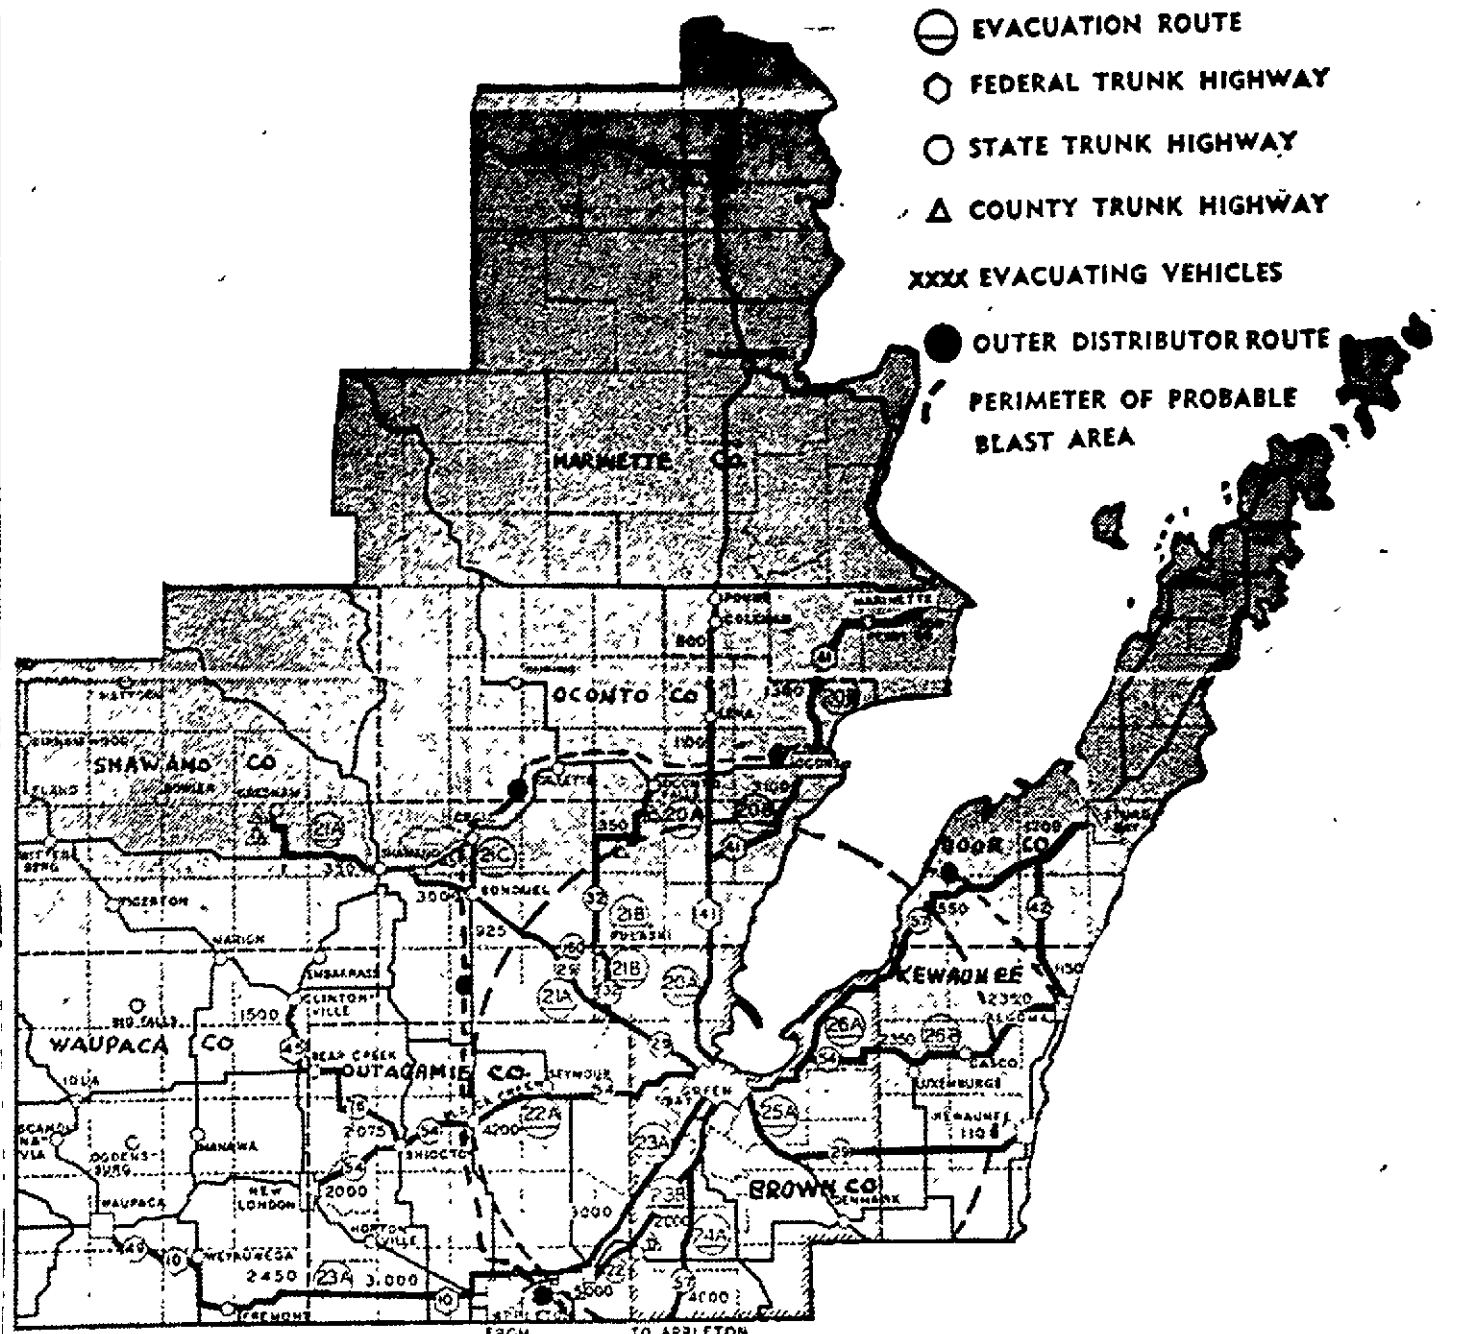

If industry thinks civil defense is important enough to hold a meeting like this, it would seem that perhaps governmental officials ought to do the same.

Pulls on Coveralls, Rattler Bites Him

Mountainair, N. M.—Frank Evans, 22, of Dora pulled on a pair of coveralls near here while working on a range reseeded project.

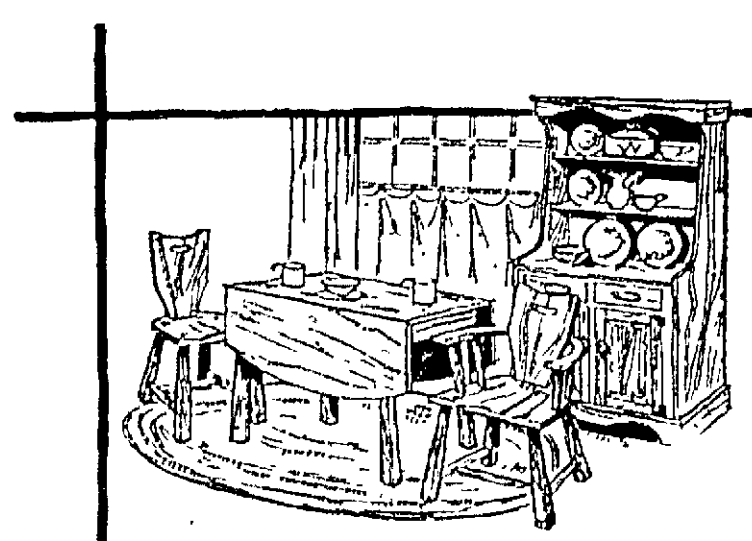

Evans quickly shucked off the coveralls when something bit him. He figured it was a scorpion. But hours later, he discovered a 2-foot rattler in the coveralls. His partner took him on a wild 23-mile ride to Mountainair during which the car tumbled into a ditch. Result: A desperate battle for life and a 10-week stay in the hospital.

St. Elizabeth Visitors Will Go Behind Scenes

Hospital Plans Open House
For 60th Anniversary Observance

An open house during which behind-the-scenes departments will be shown to the public will be held Sunday at St. Elizabeth hospital. Guided tours will be conducted from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Scheduled in observance of the hospital's 60th anniversary, the open house also will feature displays of hospital equipment and procedures through the years.

According to Sister M. Salome, administrator, the open house is designed to show areas of the hospital not usually seen by patients or visitors.

Members of the Women's auxiliary, dressed in nurses uniforms of the 1900 era, will lead the tours and will help serve refreshments at the conclusion of tours.

Areas on Display
Among the areas to be shown will be the physical therapy department, kitchen, cafeteria, X-ray room, laboratory, boiler room and emergency standby unit, all in the basement; chest X-ray unit, pharmacy, doctors lounge, medical records room, chapel, basal metabolism room, pediatric room, sewing room and laundry, all on the first floor.

Also on the agenda will be a variety of patient rooms on the third floor and the surgery and recovery areas on the fourth floor.

Tours will be arranged so visitors do not intrude on the privacy of patients, Sister Salome explained.

Two contrasting rooms also will be featured. One will be set up with furniture and equipment prevalent around the 1900's, while the second will show newest conceptions of hospital furnishings.

Incubator Display
Progress in development of incubators through the years will be another drawing point, the sister says. The display will show the type of incubators utilized from the first one, a wash basket lined with hot water bottles, to the present electrically-controlled models.

Other exhibits will include displays of newest equipment such as iron lungs, rocking beds and breathometers, a scale model of the first St. Elizabeth hospital building and a comparison of how medical records were kept 60 years ago and how they are kept today.

Appleton Vets' Units Hold Annual Service

Appleton veterans' organizations noted Veterans' day Tuesday with traditional memorial ceremonies.

Veterans unit representatives marched from the Elks club to College avenue and Oneida streets, where Mayor Clarence Mitchell discussed the meaning of Veterans' day.

Local armed forces recruits formed the color guard as the marchers stood for a moment of silence at 11 a.m.

Veterans' groups represented were the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Catholic War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans and Rainbow division veterans.

Annexation Request, Park Site Rejected

Works Board Wants Street Right-of-Way, Row of Lots Added to North-of-41 Plea

One of two annexation requests and a proposed park purchase were rejected Tuesday by the board of public works.

The annexation—involving 35.2 acres at the northwest corner of Highway 41 and Meade street—will be approved, the board ruled, if a row of lots on the east side of Meade street and another row on the north side of Second avenue, the northern-most street, are added to the request.

The park purchase—involving A. B. Kassilke's 10 acres contiguous to the south line of the Hansen plat and bounded on the west by Carpenter street—apparently was killed for good.

How to collect special assessments for out-of-city sides of the two streets in the annexation was the consideration which ultimately led to refusal to annex.

Bisecting of the park by a planned 100-foot-wide future street right-of-way was the consideration which resulted in denial of the park site purchase.

The annexation request is the first to come from landowners north of Highway 41. Petitioning are Percy C. Manning, 57 Fox Point drive, owner of 32.26 acres; Earl Lecker, 1.76 acres, and Leslie Behm, owner of Behm Motors, 1.18 acres.

Talk to Stumpf
Board members said they would confer with Ald. Stumpf, to whose ward the park land would have been attached through annexation. He may have some ideas on other sites, it was said.

Kassilke sought $2,000 an acre for his land, with $5,000 down Jan. 15 and the rest at $3,000 a year and 4 per cent.

Retzlaff, 422 Broad street, Menasha

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Boehnlein, Arlington, Texas, on Nov. 4. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Brunner, 735 S. Oneida street, Appleton.

London street, Menasha, and The charge was brought Mrs. Alvin Boehnlein, 136 Broad street, Menasha, police department.

Power Firm Will Expand Substation

Wisconsin Michigan Power company has begun an estimated $170,000 expansion project at its substation on Highway 10 south of Appleton, according to John K. Babbitt, chief engineer.

The project will be completed in 1956. It will provide three additional 34,500-volt circuits, a future distribution substation, and other voltage improvement equipment.

"Wisconsin Michigan is anticipating future development of Appleton's south side," Babbitt said. "The additional equipment at our city limits substation will provide for this development and will also reinforce service to Neenah, Kimberly, and surrounding areas."

The substation receives incoming power and distributes it to the Fox Cities and the nearby rural areas. It is the largest in the firm's system and represents an investment of $1,340,000.

London, with the Rev. Alfred C. Davis, pastor of the Royaltion Congregational church, in charge. Burial will be in Royalton cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Thursday.

First English Women to Hold Party Dec. 10

Dec. 10 is the date chosen for the annual Christmas party for women members of First English church. Mrs. Don Jury and Mrs. Robert Heinritz will be in charge. Plans were made when the women's society met for a "thank-offering" service at the church. Mrs. Hattie Koerner led reading on the topic, "Worshipping God with Our Gifts," and Mrs. Roy Raese was hostess chairman. The unit is assisting with the Lutheran world clothing drive. Articles may be taken to the basement of the parish hall through Nov. 28.

Verna Mae Beyers Parents Reveal Engagement of Verna Beyers

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. John Beyers, Shiocton, of the troth of their daughter, Verna Mae, to Mr. George Hibbard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbard, 1200 Crooks avenue, Kaukauna. The bride-elect was graduated from Outagamie Teachers college, Kaukauna. Miss Beyers teaches sixth grade at Shiocton state graded school. Her fiancé is a graduate of Kaukauna High school. Mr. Hibbard, Jr., is employed by Valley Iron Works. He served four years in the air force. The wedding will be at 2 p.m. Dec. 27 at First Lutheran church, Shiocton.

Picture Frame Project Set for Homemakers

A special interest project meeting on picture frames, arranging and hanging, will be held for members of Outagamie county homemaker clubs Thursday and Friday at Black Creek Community hall. Miss Gertrude Hoffmann, home furnishings specialist from the University of Wisconsin, will conduct the sessions, beginning at 10 a.m. She will be assisted by Miss Nyla E. Bock, county home agent. Women have been asked to bring a picture which needs framing or matting, or an old picture frame to be redone.

St. Patrick Church Site Of Wedding

Miss Dorothy Diermeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Diermeier, route 2, Shiocton, became the bride of Alvin Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kramer, route 1, Seymour, at 9:30 a.m. today at St. Patrick Catholic church, Stevensville. The Rev. Norbert Vandenberg read the double ring ceremony preceding a nuptial high mass. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Attendants were Miss Alice Diermeier, maid of honor, and Mrs. John Kramer, bridesmaids, both sisters of the bride, and Miss Patti Diermeier, niece of the bride, flower girl. Mr. John Kramer was best man and ushers were Raymond Nussbaum, cousin of the bride, and Raymond Kramer, brother of the bridegroom. Daniel Klika, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. American Legion hall, Shiocton, was the site of a noon wedding dinner. A reception and supper will be held there at 3 and 5 p.m., respectively, while a dance will be held this evening at Silver Dome, Greenville.

After a trip to northern Wisconsin, the couple will reside on route 2, Black Creek. The bride, who was graduated from Shiocton High school, is employed as a bookkeeper by Appleton State bank. Her bridegroom attended Seymour High school and is engaged in farming.

Ladies Aid to Hear Gift Wrapping Talk

St. Paul Lutheran church ladies aid will hear Mrs. Ray Hopfensperger speak on ways to do gift wrapping. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the church auditorium. Mrs. A. H. Blankenburg is chairman.

Tiny Mark Daniel Scheibe, 4 months old, cuddled in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Daniel Scheibe, was introduced to his "kinkfolk" when family members assembled for a 5-generation gathering at the Scheibe home. From left are the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Walter Kohl, his great-grandmother, Mrs. William Sachs, and his great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Stellmacker. All reside in Appleton.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Samson, route 1, Hortonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Tucker, route 1, Wabeno. Mr. Samson escorted his daughter to the altar. Her sister, Mrs. Francis M. Hoffmann, and brother-in-law were matron of honor and best man. Other attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Tucker, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Judy Samson, sister of the bride, Connie Moravec, niece of the bride, and Hugh and Kenneth Samson, brothers of the bride. Dinner was served at the bride's home and a reception was held at Pleasant View pavilion, Bear Creek, where a dance was staged in the evening. The newlyweds, who honeymooned in southern Wisconsin, will live at route 1, Shiocton. The bride, who was graduated from Shiocton High school, is employed by Zwickler Knitting Mills. Her bridegroom graduated from Wabeno High school.

Glamor Girl, Now Mother of 3, Enjoys Quiet Life in Manila

Manila — The first Miss Universe — Armi Kuusela of Finland, crowned at Long Beach, Calif., in 1953 — now leads a quiet life here with her Filipino husband, Virgilio Hilario, and three children.

"My children (Arne, 3; Annalisa, 1½, and Eva Maria, 1 month) seemed to be my chief hobby now. They keep me busy all day," she said recently.

Home for them is a modern, air conditioned, American-style bungalow in fashionable Forbes Park — Manila's millionaires' row.

Enjoys Quiet Life
"I would describe my life here as a very quiet one. We love to stay home with the family as often as possible," she said.

Except for a slight maternity bearing about her, 24-year-old Armi's Nordic beauty seems untouched by the tropics, motherhood and the task of keeping house for her 30-year-old realtor - builder husband.

Armi has been so busy raising her family she hasn't followed the Miss Universe contests very closely.

She met Hilario, scion of a wealthy landowning family, in 1953 in Manila when the then Miss Universe came to visit the Philippines.

A whirlwind courtship wound up at a wedding ceremony in Tokyo on May 4 of that year. They visited Finland in 1955 and haven't been there since.

"We have no plans to visit Finland in the immediate future," Armi, now a Filipino citizen because of her marriage, said. "The children are still too small to be taken along."

Language No Problem
Armi hasn't quite adjusted herself to the tropical climate of the Philippines.

Language, too, has never been a problem because she speaks fluent English, spoken by the vast majority of people here. She hasn't had much of a chance to teach her children her native tongue "because I'm the only one who speaks the language here and I don't want them to get confused."

Armi is learning Tagalog, the Philippines national language, with the aid of her household help as fast as Virgilio is learning Finnish from her and a newly arrived couple from Finland.

The pair will wed Dec. 27 at First Congregational church, New London.

The bride-elect and her fiancé were graduated from Washington High school, New London. She received her degree from Wisconsin State college, Stevens Point, where she was affiliated with Omega Mu Chi. Miss Cuff is on the teaching staff at Lincoln school, Neenah.

Lt. Wege was graduated from Lawrence college, where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta. He is stationed with the air force at Spence Air base, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Cuff, Hortonville, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Lt. David J. Wege, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wege, New London.

Don't Take Eyesight for Granted, Warns Patri

BY ANGELO PATRI

Good eyesight is a most precious asset to anybody and the loss of it is a catastrophe that is not to be remedied.

It would seem then that we as a people would do all in our power to protect the eyesight of all workers and the students who are potential workers from injury to their eyes as they work in shops and laboratories. We are not doing so to anything the extent we should.

We take good eyes as a matter of course. We are so accustomed to having them that we think nothing about them until something goes wrong and then we wake up to the danger of blindness or even near blindness.

Common Sense
Common sense ought to tell us to prevent accident to the eyes of people in whatever field they may be working, particularly when they are using machines that are likely to send off chips of steel, glass or stone.

We should take strong measures to protect the eyes of the boys and girls who are working in the shops and laboratories of the schools where accidents are so likely to happen to the inexperienced.

Once an eye is lost, once a worker is blinded, no amount of financial compensation is going to replace good eyesight. The loss is irremediable.

Protective Glasses
Another point the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness makes is a rule that people wearing glasses should be particularly careful to wear protective glasses when working.

Every vocational school, every school and college laboratory, should, as a matter of ordinary routine care of the students, provide protective glasses and require students and instructors to wear them while at work in the shops and laboratories.

Joan Totten Honored At Showers

A series of pre-nuptial parties has honored Miss Joan Totten prior to her marriage Saturday to Donald Kroll. On Nov. 9 Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kroll, parents of the bridegroom-elect, entertained Miss Totten at a dinner at their home, 910 Grignon street, Kaukauna.

Mrs. David Warner honored the bride-elect and her attendants at a luncheon Nov. 8 at Alex's Supper club. On Nov. 5 Mrs. Glenn Morkin and Mrs. Thomas Temple gave a shower at the Morkin home, 325 W. Parkway boulevard.

Hostesses at a luncheon Nov. 1 at the Elks club were Mrs. John Ayers, Mrs. Burnell Abel and Mrs. John Hosmer. A shower was given Oct. 29 by the Misses Mary Karwick, Suzanne Baren and man street. Butte des Morts golf club was the setting for a luncheon Oct. 25 given by the Misses Dorothy and Margaret DeJonge and Lorraine Powers. Mrs. Howard Bowers, 622 W. Sixth street, feted Miss Totten at a shower Oct. 22.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Totten, 500 W. Glendale avenue. She and her fiancé will repeat vows at St. Therese Catholic church.

Mom Who Works Often Better Mother Than Stay-at-Home

Los Angeles, — The working mother need have no feelings of guilt toward her children — she's often a better mother than the one who stays home all day.

This is the opinion of Margit Fellegi, one of the world's four walls of her home. She and her husband, Fred Cole of California, have been designing bathing suits for more than 20 years while raising four children and being a proud and devoted wife to the late Aladar Laslo, well-known writer.

who died six weeks ago. Says the small, dynamic Margit: "I believe with all my heart and soul that the woman who is busy and active has more to give her children than the mother who sits at home and waits for them to come home."

"I feel that I am the most fortunate of women. I have been given free reign as a designer for all these years, I have enjoyed many years of happiness with my husband, and I have now the comfort and companionship of my children, each of whom is a definite and delightful person, and all of whom are ladies and gentlemen. What more could a reasonable woman ask?"

"Swim Suit" Creator

Among Margit's memorable swim suit designs was her "swoon suit" of World War II, when the Cole factory was turned over to making parachutes and she had to shop for bathing suit fabrics in sheet and tablecloth departments. This was a white cotton suit which faced up the sides, and which has been copied in all languages. She also created the first slurred and draped bathing suit in 1940, and since has initiated most of the swimsuit styles seen on fashionable beaches around the country.

"I always have worked right up to the minute my babies were born," says she. "I always picked a hospital which was on the way home from work. And the day after the baby was born I had eight designers in the hospital room planning the next collection."

"This may sound hectic, but it has been my life, and neither my husband nor my children ever felt that they were neglected. Today I am thankful that I have my work and that my children are such happy and talented people, otherwise I couldn't bear the sudden loss of my husband. It would be unbearable to be left with nothing."

Began As Dressmaker

Margit was born in St. Louis and started out to be a dancer, then came to California with her artist father,

Gene Tierney Story Film Star Makes Comeback After Mental Collapse

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Westport, Conn. — "When I was ill, I thought that my emotional life was over for good," says Gene Tierney. "That was not true. I'm well now, with plenty of hope and plenty of chance to find happiness."

And happiness to this beautiful green-eyed woman means the opportunity to resume her acting career, to bring up her 10-year-old daughter in peace and security and, if the right man comes along, to fall in love and marry again.

For most of the past three years, Gene Tierney has been a patient in two mental institutions. For six or seven years before that, she had been ill and because she determinedly ignored the symptoms, grew constantly worse.

But at the end of the summer, Miss Tierney, with passport of health and visas to a new world in good order, emerged from the Menninger clinic in Topeka, Kan., ready and eager to return to her place on the nation's motion picture and television screens and to pick up her functions as mother and breadwinner for her family: daughter and mother.

Behind her are almost 20 years of personal tragedy—heartbreak, crisis and, curiously for a famous and successful actress, a mental breakdown.

South, if he took the trick, he would never get back to his own hand for another club trick, and if he allowed East's queen to hold, he still would make nothing but the ace in clubs. South came out with only eight tricks.

South should not have been in such a rush to cash the entire diamond suit. He should have led to the diamond king and immediately returned a club, putting in his own jack or ten. West, of course, would take his two hearts, but declarer would then control West's next play and, after running the diamonds, would be in a position to take another club finesse.

Obviously, if South attacked the club suit early, it would not do East any good to put up the club queen.

cessful motion picture star, failure. Ahead of her, she feels strongly, lie the serene, productive years of her life. She's now 38.

Gene's sultry, exotic beauty shot her to stardom before

York and Connecticut family of some social standing. Slight, thin-faced and foreign-looking Cassini had not reached the justice of the peace by the usual Hotchkiss-Yale, Lawrenceville - Princeton or Groton-Harvard routes.

The marriage ended the guardianship of Tierney Pere, and quarrels about this and other matters permanently alienated Gene from him.

Soon after Gene's own marriage, her parents were divorced after 25 years of marriage.

"I loved my father," says Gene in a level voice. "So when I was disillusioned in him, I was heartbroken."

Two years later came a second, stunning blow: her daughter, Daria, was born mentally retarded due to a bout with German measles. Gene suffered during her pregnancy.

Accepted Defeat

"My doctors say that my career had absolutely nothing to do with my illness," says Miss Tierney. "They tell me I handled it as a mature person."

"Perhaps the most important lesson I had to learn was to admit and accept defeat," she explains. "In the other days I felt I had to stand up to any situation and take it. I felt I had to put up with the impossible and try to resolve it. I had to learn to say, 'I can't solve that; I give up.'"

Still under age, but an important film star, Gene met, fell in love and eloped to Las Vegas with Oleg Cassini, now a famous New York dressmaker but then a struggling studio designer. An unknown then, Cassini was notable for an obscure white Russian title inherited from his mother's family and the fact he had briefly been the fourth husband of a rich patent medicine heiress.

she was 20. In the 14 years before 1940 and 1954 she made some 30 films, was rated—as a sex symbol antedating Marilyn Monroe—one of Hollywood's top box office names. Her mental breakdown, however, cannot be scored as another black mark against the west coast film city and its frantic mores.

West led his top heart, and South's first mistake was in holding up the ace, because this gave West the chance to make the spade shift which would have embarrassed declarer so much. West, however, could scarcely know that South had slipped, and so he continued hearts.

With East following suit to the second heart, South could see that there was no serious threat in that suit, but after winning with the ace he nevertheless rattled off the five diamond tricks as though determined to get those tricks home, no matter what happened later. Knowles Asks 'Hard Sell' Of U. S. Life

Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles was principal speaker when the American Legion post held its annual Veterans' day dinner at the Legion clubhouse Tuesday. From left are Percy Sharp, Appleton post commander, Knowles, Mrs. William Brinkman and Mrs. Stanley Staidl.

Loafing, loyal non-participating members of the citizenry are a greater danger than those who would betray this country to Russia, Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles contended Tuesday night. He called upon all citizens to sell America to its people and to inspire others to become better salesmen of the product. The state official spoke at the American Legion's annual Veterans' day dinner at the Legion club.

"America's sales force needs aggressive salesmen, sales managers and sales training centers," he contended. "Young people should be taught and sold on the fact that belief and appreciation in America is a basic prerequisite for success in any field."

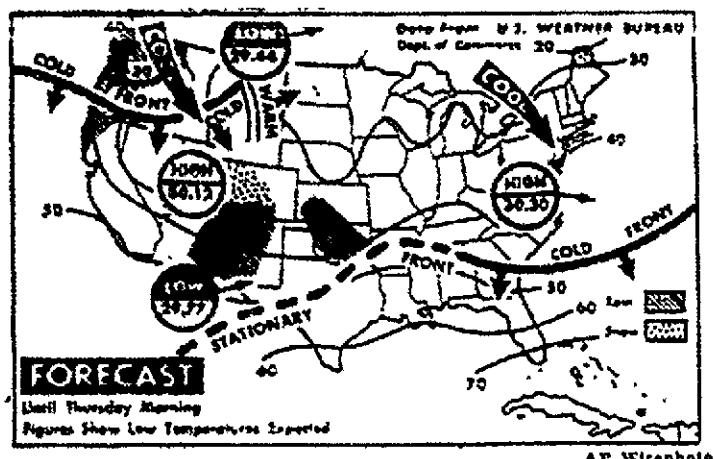

Must Be Inspired

"Children and adults must be inspired to become top salesmen and successful sales managers. People with positions as teachers, government officials, writers, newspapermen, in the motion picture industry, radio and television have extremely vital positions. These positions offer unlimited opportunities to sell and promote the American way of life."

"While these key posts have great sales potentials, it must be made known that every job and every profession holds opportunities to sell America and the American way of life."

In that way, Knowles said, America will grow stronger as a fortress of freedom and a republic to inspire freedom-seeking people throughout the world.

George Damen acted as master of ceremonies and Donald Harris was dinner chairman. About 200 attended.

Rain or Showers are Forecast for tonight in north and central Pacific regions and in parts of the central plains. Snow or rain or showers are expected in the lower half of Rocky Mountain states and in extreme northern New England. It will be cooler over most of the northeast and lower half of the Rockies and somewhat milder in the upper Mississippi valley.

Gray Clouds Hang Over Fox Cities

Cloudy and cool weather moved into the Fox Cities today, sending temperatures below the freezing mark.

In Wisconsin, Eau Claire and Park Falls had their lowest readings of the season. Eau Claire's minimum was 19 and Park Falls' 22, but Stevens Point was the coldest spot in the state with a low of 15.

The cooler air moved in on Tuesday's unseasonably high temperatures when a peak of 60 was reported at Kenosha, Lake Geneva and Madison. Superior was the coolest community with a top of 46.

Skies were fair throughout Wisconsin at mid-morning today.

Nationally, temperature extremes ranged from 86 at Childress, Texas; to 9 above zero at Big Piney, Wyo.

Appleton temperatures for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock: High, 59, low, 28. Temperature at 11 o'clock, 43.

Father Despairs as Wife Lets Child - Psychology Ruin Home

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: We have four children who are driving me nuts. My wife says they are "normal." I say there's nothing normal about sassy, disobedient kids who would just as soon kick their parents in the shins as look at them.

The oldest Landers girl is 11. She's never heard of clothes hangers. Her clothes are draped on every door-knob in the house. The next daughter is 9. She's even sloppier than her sister, if this is possible. This one refuses to wash. Our third-born is a boy 8. We had to put him in another school because he hit a teacher. The baby is 4 and already a terror.

My wife is cross-eyed from reading books on child psychology. She says if I lay a hand on the kids she'll leave me. The neighbors complained again this week about the 9 and 11-year-olds throwing dirt in their house through an open window. Also the 8-year-old shaved their cat (with my good razor.)

My wife says the kids will grow up to be fine adults if we are patient. Is it possible that she's right?—BEAT DAD

If the neighbors let the kids grow up, it'll be a miracle. Your wife should take that book and give the four cherubs a good spanking.

Enlist the help of a specialist in the field of "difficult" children. Perhaps he can explain to your wife that you, are a parent, too, and entitled to a voice in their upbringing.

She must abandon the notion that total permissiveness is a good thing. Children who grow up with the idea they can do anything they please have a difficult time adjusting to an adult world where such behavior is unacceptable. Good luck. You'll need it.

DEAR ANN: Our 18-year-old daughter has been going with a married man who is 28, and has four children. He keeps telling her that he's going to get a divorce but he hasn't done it.

We've begged and pleaded with her to stop seeing this man but she says he comes first in her life and that's that. We have four other daughters who are respectable and have nice husbands and children. This girl was raised just like the rest of them. We can't understand where she went wrong.

She has run away from home twice and threatens to do it again if we don't let her alone. I hope you can tell us what to do.—MRS. E. D. D.

There's nothing you can do for an 18-year-old girl who thinks she knows all the answers and turns a deaf ear to your pleas. It's heart-breaking to see someone you love wreck her life, but some people must learn everything from bitter experience. In most states 18 is the age of consent. Your daughter could get married without your consent if the man wanted to marry her, which he obviously does not. Stand by and prepare to pick up the pieces.

Reckless Driving, No License Get Fine for Youth

Combined Locks — Gerald Graham, 19, 2126 Second street, Appleton, forfeited $72.50 to village police after his arrest for reckless driving and driving without a drivers license.

Police said Graham was arrested about midnight Saturday after a dance at the village pavilion. Graham was driving in a manner which jeopardized other motorists, police said. Graham was chased through the village and finally overtaken in Kimberly. He became belligerent when apprehended, police said. Graham was taken to the county jail where he spent the weekend until posting bond.

Graham was fined $50 on the reckless driving charge, $15 for not having a drivers license and $7.50 was court costs.

Philatelic Group To Hear Speaker

Edward D. Hamilton, Oshkosh, president of the Wisconsin Postal History society, will be guest speaker at the 7:30 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Outagamie Philatelic society. The group will meet in Room 201 of Appleton City hall.

Hamilton's topic will be "The Art Gallery on Philately," illustrated with colored slides of original paintings of the last four centuries. The meeting is open to the public. A group discussion will follow the lecture.

New officers of the society are Vincent LeCapitaine, president; Irwin Pearl, vice president; and William Stulp, secretary-treasurer.

Fire Unit Names Officers

Vincent Baum, Grand Chute fire department chief, was elected president of the Northeastern Wisconsin Volunteer Firemen's Safety league at a meeting in Grand Chute Tuesday night.

Other officers are Alvin Asmus, towns of Neenah and Menasha, vice president, John Fiers, Kimberly, secretary, and Earl Strick, Kimberly, treasurer.

William Clark, Madison, head of the state fire service training, discussed the program. I.F. Stutz, Madison, a fire prevention specialist, discussed handling of liquefied petroleum gas.

Washington PTA to Hear Miss Sorensen

Miss Martha Sorensen, director of elementary education, will discuss "Current Issues in Education" when the Washington Parent - Teacher association meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Sidney Jacobs, Trainer of Tudor Era, is glum as he gets the news that his "winning" horse has been disqualified in the $100,000 International race at Laurel, Md. On the other hand, a fan in the background—an apparent better on Sailor's Guide—greeted the judges' decision with jubilation. Sailor's Guide was ruled the winner because of a foul.

Sailor's Guide Awarded Win After Protest; Ballymoss 3rd

BY GEORGE BOWEN
Laurel, Md. — Queen Mother Mary of England once waited nervously to find out if Sailor's Guide had won a horse race. The whole world was wondering Tuesday who had triumphed in the $100,000 Washington, D. C., International.

Both times there was a foul. And both times Sailor's Guide was on the right side of protests.

Earlier this year, at Melbourne's Flemington track, a foul was claimed against the first place finish of Sailor's Guide in the Queen Elizabeth stakes. The Queen Mother reportedly had a $40 bet on "the Sailor."

She cashed it when the foul was disallowed.

Situation Reversed

UW Prepares Defense For Illinois' Prime Threat, Rich Kreitling

End Has Caught 18 Passes for 616 Yards; Badgers' Fraser, Stalcup, Altman Sidelined

Madison — (U) — The Wisconsin football squad held a light drill Tuesday as Coach Milt Bruhn changed some of the Badgers' formations by way of getting ready for Saturday's game at Illinois.

Three regulars, linemen Jim Fraser and Jerry Stalcup and halfback Bob Altman, watched from the sidelines because of injuries. A third lineman, Danny Lanphear, worked out some but still is troubled by a sore ankle.

Bruhn promised his Badgers contact for today.

Better Health

Reports from Champaign told of better health for the Illini and determination to beat the Badgers. Said Coach Ray Ehot:

"We set out this year with a goal of making a first division finish and we need to win Saturday to achieve our original goal."

He measured the Badgers by saying, "This Wisconsin outfit has virtually the same personnel of the 1957 team—the only one that gave us a real licking last season."

Among those returning to action was halfback L. T. Bonner, out two weeks with a shoulder injury. He resumed his place at the starting right halfback.

With his return, Eliot was able to realign his first three backfields.

But one of the top Illinois threats is not in the backfield. He's end Rich Kreitling, 6 foot 2 junior, who has scored five touchdowns, while catching 18 passes, good for 616 yards. By contrast, the Wisconsin defense has allowed

QB's Elect Tollefson President

Alfred Tollefson has been elected president of the Appleton Quarterback club for 1959, succeeding Dr. Martin Eich.

Other officers elected Tuesday evening are vice president, Ed C. Schroder, secretary, Donald E. Anderson, and treasurer, A. C. Handel. Re-elected directors of the club were: Howard Locklin, Ed Thomas, Ray Dohr, and Carol McEathron.

New directors are: Walter Kotke, Joe Verrier, Schroder, Francis Bloomer, Frank Manier and F. H. "Frosty" Sprawl.

The club's final meeting of the year will be held at 7:30 Monday night instead of Tuesday. Films of the Lawrence-St. Olaf game will be shown.

Injury-Battered Warriors May Try Aerial Route Against Cincy

Milwaukee — (U) — Marquette Coach Johnny Druze called the names of 11 players Tuesday, tabbed them the first team and then held a football practice.

The replacement lineup ran through a spirited, 15-minute scrimmage, cut from the usual 45 in hope of preventing any more injuries.

If the coach had taken the time to count up the season's injuries, the list would be longer than the starting roster.

Out for Season

Out for the season with knee injuries are halfbacks Jim Webster and Tim Zhulkie, and their replacements are hobble by injuries and may not see action against Cincinnati here Saturday. They are Frank Reginelli and Si Woods.

The replaced Tuesday by Jerry Cooke and "Chuck" Hujik.

Quarterback Pete Hall was nursing an ankle injury and is to loosen up their defense was replaced by John Cornell, recovering from a sore chest.

Party Permit System Is Extended

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

A relaxed version of last year's party permit system is expected to bring about one of the highest total deer kills since the days of "either sex" shooting when the 1938 Wisconsin deer season opens Saturday morning.

The general 9-day season ends Nov. 23. There will be an additional period for hunting through Nov. 30 north of Highway 8. The familiar spike buck ruling again is in effect for most of the state.

Permit Plan Extended

Of major interest to gunners this year is the extension of the party permit plan to all counties which have a gun season except for an area in west central Wisconsin which will have three days of any-deer shooting.

This means that, for the first time, Outagamie, Brown, Waupaca, Calumet and Winnebago counties, among others, will come under the system which allows a group of four or more hunters to kill an extra deer of either sex.

The program was inaugurated last year with considerable success in generally northern sections of the state. On this widened basis for the current season, it is expected the deer kill will zoom proportionately everywhere.

400 Deer Taken

In Outagamie county, for instance, conservation Warden "Chuck" Wranosky estimates as many as 700 deer may be killed by local hunters. This is substantially above harvest records of recent years. Last year about 400 deer were taken in Outagamie.

Brown, Outagamie and other east central area hunters will be permitted to take deer only with a shotgun. There are 17 counties and a portion of an 18th, in fact, which have shotgun hunting only. They are:

McLean Is Still Seeing Bears Romp Through Packer Line

Ferguson May be Out for Remainder of Campaign

Green Bay — (U) — A few weeks ago Green Bay Packer Coach Ray McLean said of fullback Howie Ferguson, "He'd bite the opposition to get more yardage."

Then came the news that a shoulder injury would keep Ferguson out of the lineup for at least three weeks, and possibly for the remainder of the season.

"It never rains but that it pours," said the coach.

To the Sidelines

Ferguson, the club's leading ground gainer, suffered a shoulder separation in the game with the Chicago Bears last Sunday. He moved to the sidelines exactly a week after Green Bay lost Gary Knefel because of a knee injury. The end and slotback was operated on Monday at St. Vincent hospital.

The Packers not only lost Ferguson, they also lost the game, 24-10. It was their fifth defeat against a single victory and a tie. McLean is still seeing Bears romp through his line.

"We couldn't handle their tackles—or any of their line-men very well," he said Tuesday. Asked about the Packer blocking and defense for the passer, he said:

"It hasn't stayed up to what it should. It's one of those things we'll have to get on again."

Asked about the play on which quarterback Bart Starr was trapped in his own end zone and the Bears gained possession of the ball for their third touchdown, the one that smashed all Packer hopes, McLean explained:

"It was a messed-up assignment. Two men took the same Bear. Fred Williams was playing wide and he had a clear shot at Starr."

McLean said that fullback Paul Hornung, playing for Ferguson, "went the wrong way and ran into Bart and forced him to take a step the wrong way. Bart tried to get rid of the ball by grounding it. One official called it intentional grounding and the other called it a fumble and gave them a touchdown."

About the Bear defense in general, he said:

"They shifted around in there while we were calling signals. We tried a few quick counts, but that didn't work either. Sometimes we converted their defense after that. And they shot in their linebackers, too."

"The rush on Starr was terrific. A quarterback has an awful time when the line breaks down. When Babe Parilli came in later, they were using a 3-man line. They were laying back waiting for the passes."

against them without a passing game to go along with a running game."

One of the really tough Bearcats is end Jim Leo. He gained attention with a 1-man defensive show that stopped Dick Bass, the pride of College of the Pacific. The Warriors acted on his cue and also bottled up Bass and beat COP for one of their two victories.

"Leo is as tough as they come," Kelly said. "The opposing quarterback will have to defend himself after getting rid of the ball or he'll get his head knocked off. At North Texas State (Cincinnati's opponent two weeks ago) the quarterback ran behind the bench in an effort to get away, but Leo got him anyway."

Last season, when Cincinnati beat Marquette, Leo and Warrior quarterback Ernie Safran were tossed out of the game for continuing the action after the whistle had blown. Cincinnati has a 4-2-2 record. Marquette is 2-4-1.

Brown Is Finding The Going Rougher

But Cleveland Ace Within 135 Yards of Ground-Gaining Mark

Philadelphia — There is an old saying in football that the last few yards are the toughest. Cleveland's Jimmy Brown is finding that out.

Ripping along toward a new seasonal National Football league ground gaining record through the first five games of the season, Brown is finding the going much rougher. Last Sunday, as Cleveland suffered its second straight defeat, he was held to 83 yards by the Detroit Lions, a far cry from his 144-yard per-game norm.

Things may get even rougher for the former Syracuse ace as he and the Cleveland club head into the home stretch of the NFL season. The Browns are tied with the New York Giants for first place. Opposing clubs certainly will be sharing their defenses for the hard running back.

With five games to go, Brown has gained 1,011 yards on 152 carries for a 6.7 yard average. He's within 135 yards of the 1940 record set by the Philadelphia Eagles' Steve Van Buren. Brown failed to score Sunday, but his 15 touchdowns still are in range of Van Buren's mark of 18 in one season.

Expect Biggest Deer Harvest In Years

Waupaca, Brown, Outagamie, Kewaunee, Winnebago, Calumet, Manitowish, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Dodge, Washington, Ozaukee, Dane, Jefferson, Waushara, LaFayette, Rock and that portion of Shawano south of Highway 20.

Eight counties in west central Wisconsin, the Mississippi river zone, will have a 3-day any-deer season Saturday, Sunday and Monday, followed by six days of spike buck hunting. These counties are Pierce, Pepin, Buffalo, Trempealeau, LaCrosse, Vernon, Crawford and Grant. The final six days of the season in Pierce, Trempealeau and LaCrosse counties will permit rifle shooting. The first three days are shotgun only as it will be for the full nine days in the remaining counties of the Mississippi river zone.

No Other Change

Green, Walworth, Kenosha, Racine and Milwaukee counties have no open gun season. Remaining counties all have rifle seasons.

Aside from the permit system, there is no major change in deer hunting regulations over those in effect a year ago.

If a hunter has any question regarding the regulations it would be well to contact a conservation warden before going hunting. The rules are outlined in some detail in the white folder you received when you purchased your hunting license.

Reports from the conservation department indicate Wisconsin has a substantial deer herd. This winter, in his somewhat extensive travels afield, has seen nothing to indicate the local deer population is any greater than last year when there was a good number of deer here. We have seen larger numbers of deer in Marinette county than has been the case in recent years. The Crivitz-Athletine area, for instance, should produce excellent hunting if deer seen afield before the hunting season is any yardstick.

The Neillsville-Fairchild region again will be one of the areas to attract large numbers of hunters. The deer herd there is said to be large. Many hunters will flock to the Mississippi river area drawn by the any deer rule.

But, in the end, hunters who stay at home will have as good a chance to down a buck as those who make off for the big woods of the north.

Altogether it looks like a fine season.

Name Indiana's Ted Aucreman Lineman of Week

By The Associated Press

Indiana beat Michigan State, 6-0, last Saturday for the first time in nine years.

The headlines after the game went to Earl Faison, a sophomore end who blocked a MSU field goal attempt, scooped up the ball and ran 93 yards for the only touchdown. Today his teammate, Ted Aucreman, was named Lineman of the Week for his yeoman work in the same game.

The ferocious tackling of Aucreman, a junior end from Lancaster, Ohio, was the main reason the Hoosiers held Michigan State four times inside the Indian 10. Phil Dickens, Indiana coach, called it the "darndest defensive performance I ever saw." Aucreman made numerous shoe-string tackles and recovered one Spartan fumble.

Bear-Colt Contest Is 'Must' Game for Both

Bratkowski Ready For Sunday Game, Halas Reports

Chicago — "It's a must game for both teams."

That was the comment from Owner-Coach George Halas when asked about Sunday's game involving his club and the powerful Baltimore Colts at Wrigley field.

The Bears four times in their last five meetings, bring to Chicago a 6-1 record to lead the Western division of the National Football league. The Bears are second with a 5-2 mark.

"It's a must game for both teams," repeated Halas. "But they can afford to lose and we can't."

However, Halas would not admit another loss would knock his Bears out of contention. "There's a long way to go," he said, "and anything can happen in this rough league."

Halas squelched the notion that the Bears will have any advantage over Baltimore since the Colts will be playing without Johnny Unitas, their No. 1 quarterback who is shelved with injuries.

"Unitas is a great quarterback," said Halas. "But his loss will not weaken the team. George Shaw does a pretty good job, too, and if I'm not mistaken he has thrown six touchdown passes in two games. Is that bad?"

As for his own quarterback situation, Halas wasn't sure whom he would start.

"I'll either be Brown Ed or the 'Brat' (Zeke Bratkowski)," Bratkowski, nursing an injured shoulder, was kept out of Sunday's 24-10 victory over Green Bay. He worked out with the team Tuesday and was reported in top condition.

four races in England and France and was valued at more than a million dollars. But he never was in contention in the International.

Jockey Arthur B. Reynolds claimed he also suffered some interference and from unfamiliarity with Laurel's sharp turns.

Russia's first two thoroughbreds ran, but not enough. In their first appearance outside the Iron Curtain, Zaryad was left behind after six false starts and never caught up with the other nine entries from seven countries. Garnir, the Moscow derby winner, couldn't get closer than sixth.

Buy Sailor's Guide

Dr. Leon Levy of Philadelphia and two others contracted to buy the International A. C. Dibble and his son, Keith, gave him up for a reported $50,000.

It was part of $305,000 the Dibble gleamed from a $1,750 investment. That was all they paid for Sailor's Guide six years ago in auction sales at Sydney. He brought them $184,923 while racing in Australia and the International first prize was $70,000.

Mrs. Herff had to settle for $15,000 second prize. Ballymoss picked up $10,000, and his Irish countrymate, Tharp, owned by Carlton Palmer of New York, won $5,000 for fourth.

Ann Arbor, Mich. — Benjie Oosterbaan said Tuesday "I will not be pressured into quitting as the Michigan football coach."

Answering a published report that this season will be his last, the 52-year-old veteran said.

"I have made no decision about coaching at Michigan. I have not submitted my resignation and I don't know that I will. We have not had a successful season and we have been criticized. But criticism is not a factor."

Oosterbaan said he is getting "a little tired of all these stories."

"These people are guessing," he added. "All I have ever said is that I am not going to coach forever. After all, who is? But, I will not be pressured into quitting. If I have an announcement, it will be made at the proper time right now, my only concern is our game against Indiana Saturday."

Kreitling shows best on the long pass, an example coming from last Saturday's game with Michigan. He caught only three passes, but they were good for 157 yards.

Kreitling's performance gains more stature because the Illini have been having quarterback problems, resulting from injuries and inexperience. L. T. Bonner Returns To Illinois Backfield

By the Associated Press
Northwestern—With six key men already on the injured list, Coach Ara Parseghian cut out contact work the rest of this week. Only backs Irv Cross and Mike Stock are injured serious enough to be doubtful performers against Purdue.

Illinois—L. T. Bonner and other injured backs returned as Coach Ray Eliot realigned his backfield putting Bonner at right half and DeJustice Coleman at left half.

Purdue—Coach Jack Mollenkopf had Jack Laraway and Jim Roderger alternating at the fullback post to replace the injured Bob Jarus.

Iowa—Coach Forest Evanshew is planning to toss weight against Ohio State Saturday. He promoted Chicago's MacLewis, a 305-pound tackle, to the first team.

Ohio State—Jerry Fields and Ralph Gage, second and third string quarterbacks, took over the passing and punting chores for the injured Frank Kremblas.

Michigan State—Park Baker, a 161-pound junior fullback, will alternate with Bob Mercich against Minnesota. Baker gained 68 yards in six carries against Indiana last week.

Scores Eight TDs For Single Game NAIA Record

Kansas City — Junior Wolf, a 6-2, 183-pound Kiowa Indian, scored eight touchdowns Saturday for Panhandle (Okla.) A&M, setting a single game scoring record for National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics colleges and just about cinching the 1958 NAIA scoring crown. Wolf rolled up his 48 points against St. Mary of Dodge City, Kan. It erased the record of 36 set last year by Bill Schmalz of Colorado Western. At 138 points, Wolf is only six shy of the NAIA season record of 144 set in 1955 by Nate Clark of Hillsdale (Mich.) college. Wolf has two more games to play.

Pellington and Myhra Added to Baltimore's Growing Injury List

Baltimore — Two more Baltimore Colts turned up with broken bones Tuesday, but they presumably will be ready for the game against the Bears in Chicago Sunday. Linebacker Bill Pellington fractured a thumb. Guard Steve Myhra broke a small bone in his wrist. They were injured in the Colts loss to the New York Giants last Sunday.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas suffered fractured ribs some 10 days ago. L. G. Dupre sustained a shoulder separation.

Navy and Army Lead Nation In Passing

Iowa Takes Over First Place in Total Offense

New York — Navy and Army are the top passing teams in the nation and nobody knows it better than Maryland and Rice.

Navy took over the major college passing lead with a flurry of activity by Jim Maxwell, sub quarterback, in a 40-14 romp over Maryland. Army struck on a 64-yard touchdown pass from Joe Caldwell to Pete Dawkins with only 52 seconds left for a 14-7 edge over Rice.

According to the National Collegiate Athletic bureau, it is the first time the service rivals ever have led the nation in passing.

Cousy, Russell Spark Celts' Overtime Win

Shrug Off Injuries To Star in 115-113 Contest

By The Associated Press
The Boston Celtics could be called the walking wounded, but they looked mighty healthy to the Minneapolis Lakers Tuesday night.

Bob Cousy, nursing a painful foot injury, and Bill Russell, playing with an injured ankle, sparked the Celts to a 115-113 overtime victory over the Lakers. It was the only game played in the National Basketball association.

Cousy, sprang in Boston's last seven points, collected seven points in the overtime period. He finished with 15 points and had 14 assists.

Taps It In
With the score tied, 111-111, in the final minute, Russell tapped in an errant shot by Bill Sharman to put the Celts ahead for good. Big Bill snared 33 rebounds and wound up with 20 points.

The Cousy-Russell tandem nullified a spectacular performance by Minneapolis rookie Elgin Baylor. The former Seattle All-American clicked for 36 points and game scoring honors.

The victory moved the Celts into third place in the Eastern division with a 3-3 record. The Lakers, now 4-5, fell into a second-place tie in the Western division with Detroit.

Stevens Point Is 18th in NAIA Football Ratings

Kansas City — Stevens Point State of Wisconsin was listed eighteenth Tuesday in the latest National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football ratings.

The Pointers won seven games and had one tie this season. That tie kept them from sharing the Wisconsin State College conference championship with River Falls. The champion Falcons were undefeated in conference play, but Stevens Point beat them early in the season in a game which was not considered a league contest.

Northeast Oklahoma still tops the NAIA ratings. Arizona State of Flagstaff is second and Willamette of Salem, Ore., is third. Each of the top three teams has an 8-0 record.

Leone Grmeinweiser of Vi Millers posted a 196, W. Mantuffel shot a 555 in the Builders wheel and in the 534 in the Lucky league at Lucky loop Carol Wojohn of the ACA. Her Big Shoe team owned a 192 and Marion Werner (19-5) holds a half-game circuit lead.

Carl Bauer tied together a 558 bagging package in the Appleton Builders league at Hahn's earlier in the week. Lake Plumbing is his team. E. Hooyman fired a 234. Wunderlich (23-7) possesses a 4-game league lead.

A 234 by Harry Kositzke was the honor game in the Appleton Lutheran league. Alko Super Market (21 - 9) owns a 3-game lead.

Carol Wojohn unloaded a 534 in the Lucky league at Lucky loop Carol Wojohn of the ACA. Her Big Shoe team owned a 192 and Marion Werner (19-5) holds a half-game circuit lead.

Veteran Aces Layne, Conerly May Attract Record Crowd

Pittsburgh — Like Old Man River, quarterbacks Chuck Conerly of the New York Giants and Bobby Layne of the Pittsburgh Steelers keep rolling along.

With the two veteran campaigners tossing Sunday at Pitt stadium, the Steelers expect a crowd of between 45,000 and 50,000 — the largest ever to watch a pro football game here.

Successive victories by the Giants over previously undefeated Cleveland and Baltimore and the Steelers' 31-24 triumph over Philadelphia last Sunday have helped the ticket sale.

A Must Game
This is a must game for Coach Jim Howell's Giants, tied with the Cleveland Browns for the top spot in the Eastern division of the National Football league with a 5-2 mark.

Anybody with a 3-4 record would figure the season just about over. But not Coach Buddy Parker of the Steelers. "This club is just beginning to come around," he said.

For one thing," adds Parker, "Layne is better acquainted with his receivers. We've

The Cardinals now have 10 wins against two losses in their 16-game tour.

Bobcats Take An Enforced 2-Week Rest

Ice Removed From Arena; Bukovich On Talent Hunt

Green Bay — With his Green Bay Bobcats presently on an enforced 2-week "vacation," Coach Tony Bukovich left today for Minneapolis and a talent-scouting tour of Minnesota with an eye to beefing up his club for the imminent Mid-American Hockey league season.

Removal of the ice from the new Brown County Veterans Memorial arena to make room for a variety of dedicatory events, among them a circus and a dog show, temporarily left the Bobcats without a practice home. They are scheduled to resume Wednesday night, Nov. 26—three days before their home opener against the Calumet, Michigan, Radars.

Like Starting Over
Bukovich isn't too happy over the delay, pointing out, "when we get on the ice again, it will be just like starting all over." He is making arrangements for his athletes to play handball in the YMCA here "so they can get their wind, at least."

In Minnesota, the Bobcat coach will be looking for a defenseman. The roster presently numbers 19 players, of which seven will be cut when he returns from his trip, Bukovich said.

Standouts in the week's practice permitted them have been wings Andy Cicoria, Joe Bocchini and Dave Frank; center Ken Ruohonen and defenseman Mike Horn and Ron Katalin.

Clearwater, Fla. — Horton Smith, twice Masters champion and the only golfer to play in all 22 Masters tournaments, is the newest member of golf's Hall of Fame.

The Professional Golfers' Association of America inducted Smith at the annual PGA President's dinner here Tuesday night.

The PGA also honored Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., as the "Professional Service (23-61). Vera Dregory of the Year" and Harphal fired a 213 for Mer and Pezzullo of Northbrook, Ill., as the "Outstanding Teaching Professional of 1958."

Lawrence Says: Unions Claim Majority in New Congress

Labor Says It Can 'Count on' 54 in Senate, 220 in House

Washington — The labor unions poured millions of dollars, including members' services, into the recent election campaign and are claiming a majority now in both houses of congress on their side.

The law of land says specifically that neither labor unions nor corporations may contribute money or anything of value to elect candidates for congress.

How is this law being circumvented? Will the Democratic party leaders have the courage to investigate campaign spending or will they listen to the clamor already coming from the unions to squelch even the anti-racketeering inquiry authorized by the last session of congress?

Since 23 of the senatorial candidates backed by the AFL-CIO were elected—one being William Langer of North Dakota, Republican, and the other 22 being Democrats—the labor oligarchy feels it now can count on 54 senators to vote as the labor union leaders may demand.

Similarly, there is a majority in the house who either voted right—according to labor union standards—more than half the time or were elected with considerable support from the unions. The latest tabulation on this basis, derived from labor union sources, indicates 220 members of the house on labor's side. It requires 219 for a majority.

The consequences of this victory are already apparent. The AFL-CIO has just announced that it will demand that congress at one fell swoop remove the right-to-work laws from the statute books of 19 states.

This would be possible if congress amended the Taft-Hartley act, thus taking away from the states the right to enact any legislation whatsoever on this subject. At present, if the states do not legislate, the federal statute permitting compulsory unionization remains in effect. This law says that, unless a worker pays dues to a union, he must be fired from his job by the employer, and he cannot get or keep a job unless he is ready to join a union.

So congress, by one single piece of legislation, can take away the civil rights of all labor unions. If the modernized workers of America—the right to join or not to join a union and the right to protest against racketeering and corruption by resigning and quitting his payment of dues. This means a form of slavery that will be up to the supreme court to limit or abolish in its next decision.

Although the right of the employing company and the labor union to agree to keep or the job only those who pay dues to a union has been upheld as constitutional, there is an important reservation which the highest court has recorded. It is that, in making such a private contract, there can be no violation of the due process clause of the Fifth amendment or of the free speech and freedom of belief privileges granted under the First amendment.

Cases Coming Up
Cases are arising which haven't reached the high court as yet and which involve the use of labor union money for educational or political purposes that are at variance with the beliefs of individual members. Their dues are not used merely to pay collective bargaining expenses, as is so often claimed, but actually to help elect certain state and federal legislators.

Britons Want Pretty Girls For Troops

London — An urgent appeal went out today for 500 pretty girls to bolster morale among British troops in rebel-torn Cyprus.

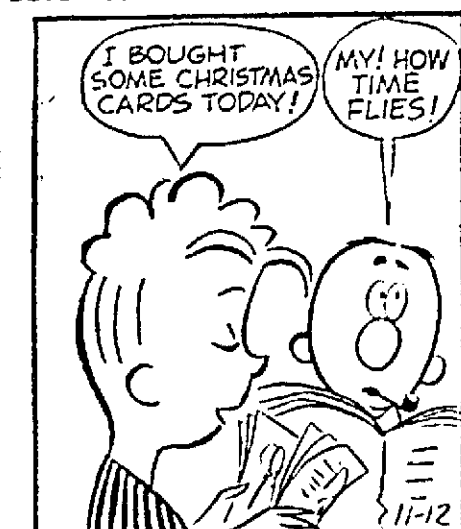

The girls will work as waitresses in British army canteens following the sacking yesterday of Greek Cypriot staff as bad security risks.

NAAFI — the British equivalent of the PX — wants girls between 18 and 45. It offered them $13.30 a week — plus $8.40 danger money to cover the risk of being bumped off by the Greek Cypriot underground. Twenty-four Britons have been killed on Cyprus in the last five weeks.

H. P. Pridoux, head of the service group, said, "Most of the jobs can be carried out by either men or women, but the troops would rather see a pretty girl about the place than a man."

"Providing we get reasonable accommodation for them, we should send young girls of 18 to Cyprus," Pridoux said. "They are an important factor in maintaining morale. A soldier prefers a girl to serve him with his cup of tea."

White House Gives Details on Nixons' Visit to Britain

Washington — The White House announced Tuesday some details of the Nov. 25-28 visit by Vice President and Mrs. Nixon to Great Britain.

Nixon is making the trip primarily to represent President Eisenhower at the dedication of the American chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral Nov. 26.

He and Mrs. Nixon will be guests of Queen Elizabeth II at a Buckingham palace luncheon, the date to be announced later. They also will attend a dinner given by the English Speaking Union.

Nixon will be honored at a stag luncheon Nov. 25, given by the Pilgrims of Great Britain. The White House said he also will be entertained by Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, which will give him "the opportunity to meet representative British leaders in the field of politics, business, education and the press."

Queen Elizabeth will be the guest of the Nixons at dinner in the home of U.S. Ambassador John Hay "Jack" Whitney, Nov. 27.

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Distinguish between forceful (full of force; effective) and forcible (effected by force). Thus: "Charles has a forceful personality," and, "The police made a forcible entry."

Often mispronounced: Dish-able (state of being dressed in careless style). Pronounce diss-a-beel, accent on last syllable.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Elections Indicate 'Demochristian' Trend

Catholic Democrats Ran Ahead of Tickets in More Than Expected Cases

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Washington — In the fascinating and fearful election returns, there is one more symptom that is really too fascinating to pass over. The performances turned in by Democratic candidates belonging to the Catholic church made a remarkably striking pattern.

Alsop

You can even argue that the pattern foreshadows what can be called a strong Demochristian trend. Of course the word, in its European context, has a meaning that it could never have here. But in many states, after this election, the Democrats will certainly tend to prefer Catholic candidates, simply because Catholic candidates are plainly more likely to bring home the bacon. Catholic Democratic candidates ran ahead of their tickets in a remarkable number of cases, ranging from Gov. Elect Pat Brown in California right across the union to Sen. Jack Kennedy in Massachusetts. Besides Mayor D'Alesandro, indeed, the only important Catholic candidate known to this reporter who did not run ahead of his ticket was Sen. Elect Eugene McCarthy in Minnesota.

The McCarthy case, moreover, is the kind of exception that proves rules. McCarthy was running in a strongly Lutheran state, where being a Catholic ought to have been a really heavy handicap. Yet there was no sign that McCarthy suffered more than marginally for this reason. The entire difference between the vote for McCarthy and the votes for the other Minnesota Democrats can be very easily explained by a single, simple fact. McCarthy's opponent, Sen. Ed Thyne, was the only respectable Republican nominee for major office on the Minnesota ballot.

Two reasons for this phenomenon are apparent. On the one hand, Catholic candidates have the power to swing back to the Democrats the many Catholic voters, especially voters of Irish and Italian origin, who have strayed into the Republican party in recent years. On the other hand, the church is a conservative symbol nowadays, even in the eyes of non-Catholics and thus a Democratic candidate who is also a Catholic is generally immune to charges of "radicalism" and "left wing tendencies" that Republicans like to hurl at their enemies.

The second advantage of Democratic candidates who are also Catholics can be expected to endure. The first will not be enduring, since it belongs to a happily transitory phase in the development of our American society. Catholics will not go on voting so heavily for their fellow Catholics, after they cease to feel their church is the target of political discrimination.

But in the present phase, although there is no longer any obstacle to the nomination of Catholic candidates for major offices, the memory of the former obstacles still rather strongly survives. That is why a Catholic, like Frank Hogan, can attract thousands of votes that a Protestant, like Averell Harriman, cannot attract. The situation is the same in state after major northern state.

By the same token, the rural Protestant prejudice against Catholic candidates has at least greatly weakened, as the Minnesota results suggest. If a candidate is a Catholic, in short, his religion is no longer a serious disadvantage with any large sector of the voting population, and it is an important advantage with one large sector. All of which would make this year's election returns rather cheering to young Sen. Kennedy.

Nelson Picks Staff Member

J. E. Nusbaum, 34,
Financial Advisor
To Governor-Elect

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Gov. Elect Gaylord Nelson today chose as the first member of his official family a young public administration specialist who got much of his training during the last five years as a subordinate in the finance division of the Republican state administration.

He is Joe E. Nusbaum, now an instructor in the University of Wisconsin extension division. He will be Nelson's chief financial advisor and assistant. Nusbaum, 34, came to Madison in 1953 to work in the state bureau of budget and accounts as a budget analyst. He left that job last spring to join the university staff, where he worked toward a graduate degree. At the time, friends also said he was interested in more political activity. He served in recent months as a member of the Democratic state platform committee.

Nusbaum will sit in with Nelson at hearings on appropriation requests of state departments, probably on Nov. 24, but won't join the state payroll until after the new governor's inauguration in January.

Nusbaum is identified with a group of younger professional administrators who are interested in modernizing the management of state government.

It has been understood in capitol circles that Nusbaum was Nelson's principal collaborator on a series of state government reorganization proposals made public during the successful candidate's election drive.

Research Work Today Nelson said Nusbaum will be in charge of state government management research, including the drafting of reorganization proposals for the legislature that will convene in January.

A broad-scale reorganization plan to be presented by the governor-elect is now under preparation, but will probably require about three months to complete, according to authoritative reports.

Nusbaum is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he is married, and has three children as a member of the School Board Cancels Tower Removal Idea

Cost for Wrecking Nicolet Structure Judged Too High

Kaukauna — The board of education, prior to sitting with the council to discuss the 1959 school budget, abandoned the idea of removing an old tower from Nicolet school after being informed it would cost an estimated $3,500.

The tower is ornamental. The board had discussed removal of the tower in conjunction with remodeling and additional construction work underway at the school, but on hearing of the contractor's cost, voted to save the funds for more useful education purposes.

Auditorium Curtains. A committee was appointed to meet with representatives of concerns selling stage curtains and auditorium drapes to ascertain which would be best suited for the high school auditorium. Drapes now in use are nearly 25 years old and deteriorating rapidly.

Three women members of the board were named to the committee immediately with men invited to sit in on discussions if they felt themselves sufficiently familiar with goods and drapes. A preliminary survey showed drapes would cost about $1,800 and the stage curtain could be used with routine repairs.

Board members voted to increase the salary of an office girl $20 per month. The girl was hired earlier this year on a temporary or trial basis. A low salary was set to be effective during the trial period. Purchase of six pianos for use in grade and high schools was approved.

A Browne Girl Scout troop, was granted permission to meet at Nicolet school one afternoon each week and the Kaukauna Athletic club was granted permission to use the high school gym for exhibition basketball games if the athletic council could arrange a schedule whereby they would not conflict with high school activities.

42nd New Home Permit Issued

Seven Manage to Earn Straight A For 9-Week Period

Kaukauna — Thirty-five Kaukauna High school students were listed on the first 9-week honor roll, according to a release by Julian Bichler, principal.

Seven of the students earned straight A grades and 28 earned a mark of average A. Seniors earning straight A marks were Sally Hertz and Thomas Proper and Jane Barrieau was the only junior earning this mark. Nancy Kerkhoff won straight A as a sophomore and freshmen attaining this mark were Geraldine Hopfensperger, Sandra Kern and Frances Nelson.

Average A Grades Ten seniors earning average A grades were Michael Golden, Oliver Kruse, Daniel Lammers, Patricia McGrath, Mark Nagan, Bridget Brenzel, Mary Sue Coleman, Patricia Doering, Florence Schmidt and Darlene Vilk.

Juniors in the category were Dwight Rastian, Margaret Courtney, Harold Gast, Melvin Kruse, Janet Spice and Carol Wollangk. Sophomores attaining average A grades were David Foxgrover, Marilyn Hilgenberg, Karen Lindemuth and Nancy Van Dyke.

Damage Window By Rifle Shot, Youths to Pay

Combined Locks. Four Kaukauna youths, 15 and 16 years old, appeared before justice of the peace Leo Bosch and were ordered to pay for damages to the window of a home which they damaged with a rifle.

Police said the youths were apprehended Sunday afternoon after a complaint that they shot through the window of the DeGroot residence, Park street.

The boys told police they were practicing shooting. Damage to the window amounted to $23.50.

Kaukauna — Janet Runge topped a 204 singleton and 522 series to walk off with individual honors in the Friday Night Women's league at S and B alleys.

Team honors were shared as Bee's Beauty shop hit an 831 game and Wisconsin bar posted a 2356 series. Bee's Beauty shop won two from Egan's to have the two deadlock or the league lead with 18 wins and nine losses. Two teams are tied for runnerup with 15-13 ratings. Flora Brouillard hit a 106 game and Lorraine Heilman a 501 set for the only other honor counts.

Elect L. N. Schommer President of Kiwanis

Miss Betty Brys, Teacher, Talks to Little Chute Club

Little Chute — L. N. Schommer was elected president of the Kiwanis club at a dinner-meeting at McCabe's restaurant.

Schommer, president of the Essential Products corporation, has served as club vice president for the last year. Richard Vander Wynt was elected vice president, Tony Van Bostel was reelected secretary and Joseph Vanden Burg was picked as treasurer. Named to the board of directors were Robert Hartjes, Ted Verkuilen, Jr., and Donald Farrell.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Miss Betty Brys, a member of the faculty at the state graded school. Miss Brys spoke on "Home and School as a Team," in connection with American Education week.

Parent Importance Miss Brys told of the important part the parent plays in the education of the youngster. She pointed out some of the duties and responsibilities the parents have that and the teacher. Getting the child to school on time, keeping him home when he is sick and teaching him respect for others are points the parents should work on, Miss Brys said.

Miss Brys urged the parents to visit schools frequently to see pupils at work. She also urged that parents question youngsters about what they have been taught in the school to see how well they are carrying ideas they learn. She stressed the importance of parent teacher conferences and urged parents to unite with the school to further the interest of the child. "Don't pass the buck," Miss Brys said.

Plans were announced for the annual Kiwanis - farmer program Monday night. Guest speaker will be "Alice in Dairyland," and a film is planned. Each Kiwanian is asked to bring a farmer friend to the dinner-meeting.

Owen Woldenberg was inducted as a new member by William Griffith, lieutenant governor of district 7.

School, City Officials Review Proposed '59 Education Budget

Institutions to Cost Taxpayers $1 Tax Rate Increase

Kaukauna — Aldermen met informally with members of the board of education Tuesday night to review the 1959 school budget and determine where it would be possible to cut any of it.

The school board submitted a total budget of $450,715 of which $389,387 is to be raised by direct tax levy in the city. The amount to be raised by the tax levy is approximately $23,000 more than was raised in 1958 and would mean an increase of a little over $1 per $1,000 on assessed valuation.

5 Per Cent Cut
Ald. William Glasheen asked if the school budget was not flexible enough to stand a flat 5 per cent cut which would mean a saving of about $1 per $1,000 to taxpayers.

Glasheen immediately added he would not ask for such a reduction if it would jeopardize school operation. He informed school officials he wanted all budgets in the city trimmed to the bare minimum as major expenditures for the sewage plant and new sewers in the city would mean a major hike in the tax rate if other budgets could not absorb some of the cost.

School representatives said no effort has ever been made to "pad" or put a "buffer" into the budget.

The superintendent has always been instructed to list all items in the budget and only recently has been criticized by some board members for operating too closely by not putting a cushion in the budget, said school officials.

Instructional costs alone account for 73.5 per cent of the budget, plant operation accounts for 10.8 per cent, general costs amount to 3.6 per

Parent-Teacher Talks Slated Tonight at Combined Locks School

Combined Locks — Parent-teacher conferences will be conducted from 6 to 8 p.m. tonight at the grade school, according to Wayne Hull, principal.

Some conferences were held this afternoon and the evening sessions also were scheduled to give shift workers an opportunity to visit with the faculty.

The conferences are being held as part of National Education week and the school is completing the first nine weeks of instruction. Report cards will be given to the parents and discussed.

An open house will be conducted at the school from 7 to 8 p.m. Nov. 19 prior to the Parent-Teachers association meeting.

12 Boys Seeking Spot on KHS Cage Squad After Cuts

Kaukauna — With the opening basketball game of the 1958-59 campaign less than a week away, Coach Gerry Hopfensperger has cut his squad to 12 boys from the original 38 who reported for drills.

An additional nine boys were placed on the Jayvee squad and are working out under the direction of Harold Komin. Despite having five letter winners back Hopfensperger will have one of the smallest teams fielded by Kaukauna in many years.

Two of the letter winners are 6-foot, 1-inch and one newcomer is an even 6-foot, but from then on the boys are cent, maintenance accounts for 3.9 per cent and capital outlay accounts for 3.8 per cent of the total. The remaining 4.4 per cent are fixed costs.

He spoke out strongly against the city doing anything for the school which was not included in the school budget as he wanted outlying areas in the school district to pay a proportionate share of the cost. Marshall Bayorgeon, school board president, suggested more cooperation between the board of public works and the school board might lead to a savings for taxpayers. Aldermen agreed and felt every effort should be made to work together to save funds.

Ald. Jewell Toms said he felt it all right to be economical but not at the expense of education or things which would benefit the city. School commissioners are elected to represent the people as we are, said Toms, and we must have faith in them or replace them.

The meeting adjourned with aldermen seemingly convinced the school board budget could not be changed, school board officials satisfied it would not be changed, and aldermen still wondering how to raise money in 1959 without hitting taxpayers too hard.

School officials also pointed to the increased enrollment which made it necessary to add such a stairway to keep traffic moving smoothly between class changes at the school. Glasheen questioned school officials about other governmental units represented

Art Students at Holy Cross Meet Voice on Radio

Kaukauna — A radio voice became a personality for art students at Holy Cross Catholic school Tuesday when James Schwalbach, art instructor over the University Wisconsin School of the Air, visited the school to look over work done by youngsters.

Children listen to his program, his stories and music and then try to interpret on paper what they learn or their impressions which come from listening. Students assembled in the school gym and each brought a drawing or painting made after one of his radio classes.

Schwalbach selected certain specimens and asked other youngsters to criticize or appraise the finished work. Through this he was able to ascertain what they had learned from listening to the radio and at the same time had the opportunity to show youngsters visually what he was attempting to stress.

The instructor also had several of his works which he invited children to study and criticize.

Rates Increase

Seymour — Rates for water and sewer service hook-ups were raised from $50 to $100 per connection at a city council meeting Monday evening.

The meeting on the proposed budget is set for Nov. 19.

Counts 625 Set In Valley Loop At Little Chute

Little Chute — Francis LeNoble smashed a 268 game and 625 series for the top honors in the Fox Valley league at the Recreation alleys.

Hammen's Bar replaced Vanderloop's Shoes in first place by winning three straight while the latter dropped three matches. The Recreation team is third, a half game out of second.

Other high scores included Joe Reynebeau, 225-609; Rich Ebben, 585; Jerry Lamers, 225-568; John Jansen, 559 and Jack Lamers, 558.

In the Legion league at the Recreation Joe "Red" Reynebeau had a 228 singleton and 561 series for the top scores.

The only other honor count was a 550 by Art Pennings. Mill's Barbershop is in first place with a two game lead over Hillside Bar. Sue's Bar is third, a game and a half out of second.

Veterans Day Ceremony Held At Little Chute

Little Chute — About 50 members of the American Legion post participated in the annual Veterans Day ceremonies on the village square Tuesday morning.

Commander Sylvan Lamers was in charge of the services and members stood at attention during the program.

After 30 seconds of silence were observed for those who have died in service taps were sounded by Marlene Van Nuys, of the Drum and Bugle corps.

John Williamson fired the aerial salutes. Open house was conducted for the rest of the day at the village hall with the auxiliary in charge of the lunch in the evening.

Representatives of World wars I and II and the Korean war took part in the program.

Band Mothers Club to Plan Coming Activities

Kaukauna — Plans for activities for the balance of the year will be discussed at a meeting of the Kaukauna Band Mothers club at 8 p. m. Thursday at the school.

Co-hostesses for the social after the meeting will be Mrs. Loyal Schmalz and Mrs. Louis Schultz.

Research Shows
Each Year of Schooling Means Higher Income
Special to Post-Crescent
New York — The arrival of do, if I remained and got a job? How much better could I be better off department of labor and by amount of schooling the average young man receives and of the United States, current-agencies. They show that each added year in school results in more income for the average person throughout his working career.
This prospective income compares favorably with the expectations for other parts of the United States, currently set at $162,000 for the young man just starting out. In the state of Wisconsin it is $156,000.
A direct relationship is noted between the amount of education a person acquires and the amount of money he will make during his lifetime.
Figures released by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell show that each year of school through the 7th grade adds $150 to annual income, that graduating from the 8th grade adds $303, that each year through the 11th grade adds $238 and that the 12th grade adds $486.
Lifetime incomes average $50,000 more for high school graduates than for elementary school graduates but run $103,000 below those of college graduates.
The esteem in which learning is held in Appleton speaks well for the future. The educational level of the adult population is high. The median stood at 10.8 years of schooling when the last census was taken and has gone up considerably since then.
This was more than the United States figure, 9 years, and the state of Wisconsin median, 8.8 years.
Secretary Mitchell points out, in urging young people to remain in school longer, "In almost every occupation, a high school diploma is the minimum need for desirable employment and promotion."

American Education Week Is being observed in Twin City schools this week with open house programs and other activities. Parents of Menasha High school students attended their children's class sessions Tuesday night. In the top photo, Vernon Knox, woodworking instructor, describes the makings of a child's chair and a step stool to Mrs. Leslie Kuhl, center, and Mrs. Earl Hauke, right. Classroom displays were reviewed by parents at St. Margaret Mary school in Neenah Tuesday night. Looking at the booklet, in the lower panel, left to right, are Sister M. Hedwig, Mrs. John Martell, Mrs. James Blank, Mrs. Harold Turner and Mrs. Alex Strange.

Luncheon Will Honor 56 Retired Members Of Canco 25-Year Club

Menasha — A luncheon at the Menasha Elks club Thursday noon will honor the 56 retired members of the Neenah-Menasha Quarter Century club of the Marathon division of the American Can company.

The luncheon is held exclusively for the club's retired members while other members of the Quarter Century club in the Twin Cities will attend the annual banquet Dec. 4 at St. Patrick's school. At that time awards will be presented to new members inducted into the club.

Roy J. Sund, American Can company vice president, and general manager of the Marathon division, and John Stevens, vice president of the American Can company, will attend the event with division heads, plant managers and industrial relations administrators.

Walter E. Strong, insurance and retirement manager, will be master of ceremonies and John Bachhuber of the personnel department is in charge of program arrangements. Included on the program will be a slide film presentation depicting the 50-year history of Marathon.

List Members
Retired Quarter Century club members are Florence Alger, Howard Campbell, Philip Grode, Benjamin Hett, John Kobinsky, John Kolanski, William Kruse, Carl Lenz, Arthur Lux, Frank Magalske, Stanley Ostrowski, Joseph Pakalski, William Pomeranka, Jacob Rausch, Louis St. Pierre, Steve Schultz, Frank Spilski.

Waukau Girl, 17, Reported Missing

Oshkosh — Kenneth Graham, Waukau, reported to the sheriff's department Sunday morning that his daughter, Carolyn, 17, hadn't returned home Saturday. He said she was to return at 4 p.m. that day.

The girl is believed to be with a 31-year-old Wautoma man, who was divorced Monday. A friend said she received a call from the girl saying she was married.

The girl is 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weighs 125 pounds. She has blue eyes, fair complexion and light brown hair in a pony tail. She was wearing black slacks and a green jacket.

Given Permit for New $16,000 Home

Neenah — Don Stip has been granted a building permit by Building Inspector Carlton F. Williams for a $16,000 home and attached garage on Oak street. It is the 165th new home permit issued this year, compared with 111 at this time last year.

Works Board to View Police Station Plans

Neenah — The board of public works will review budget items and the new police station plans when it meets at 7 p.m. tonight at the city hall.

Light Post Damaged

Menasha — A light post at the corner of Garfield avenue and Washington street was damaged this morning when struck by a car driven by Mrs. Lawrence Mayer, 94 Lawson street. The car was making a right turn onto Washington street from Garfield avenue.

Added to Hoover School of Neenah this year were six classrooms at the north end of the building at a cost of $112,000. The addition carries out the original design of the building. Open house for the new addition will begin at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Ideas are Effective Weapons, Legion Told

American Government Greatest Hope for Mankind, Assemblyman A. J. Cane Says

Menasha — "The most effective weapons in the world are ideas," Assemblyman Arnold Cane told members of the Lenz-Gazek American Legion post and auxiliary during a Veteran's day dinner at the Neenah-Menasha Elks club Tuesday night.

"Powerful weapons like the Maginot line and superiority in atomic weapons are fine," he said, "but in the long run wars are fought and won for an idea. The greatest hope for mankind is the American idea of government," he stated.

Basic principles of our American way of life, which we take for granted, are constitutional protections against racial and religious discrimination, freedom of speech and press, and the right of the accused to be faced by the accuser, the assemblyman declared.

"America is a Christian nation, founded on Christian principles embodied in our Declaration of Independence and carried over into our federal and state constitutions," Cane declared.

He paid tribute to the people who wrote Wisconsin's state constitution 110 years ago for providing in the preamble gratitude to God for the blessings of freedom. Love for God and neighbor comprehend all man needs for this life, Cane stated. He advocated Americans exercise their privilege to love God and country as it is "the best way possible to pay homage to the people who gave their lives in war for their loved ones."

"Have faith in your ideals, for truly the American principles and the American ideal are the last great hope of the world," Cane concluded.

Toastmaster Ralph McClone introduced Cane and in a benediction

Parents Will Protest City Rec Program

Oshkosh — Several hundred parents are expected to turn out at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Merrill Junior High school to protest scheduling too much social activity for their children.

The meeting was arranged after parents became disturbed about the schedule of dances and other activities offered their youngsters by the city recreation department.

Speakers will be Lt. William J. Gonyo, head of the police department's youth bureau; Dr. R. E. Gerth, a pediatrician; Harold Grable, a psychologist at Winnebago State hospital; and Louis R. Lyon, Merrill school principal. The Rev. E. W. Rabe, pastor of St. John Evangelical Lutheran church, will act as moderator.

Arranging the meeting are Mrs. Melvin Sticka and Mrs. Al Pinckley, co-chairmen. Working with them are their husbands, Grable, Mrs. Louis Meyer, Dr. Gerth, all of Oshkosh, and Mrs. Carl Geisler, Neenah.

were offered by the Rev. Michael Koch of St. Patrick Catholic church.

New Bridge Opening Ceremonies Planned

Program for Cecil Street Span Set For 2 p.m. Monday; Cost Under $30,000

Neenah — Dedication ceremonies for the new Cecil street bridge have been set for 2 p.m. Monday, Mayor Chester S. Bell said today. The bridge will be opened to traffic then, connecting Highway 41 with the east end of the city.

City officials and representatives of the county highway and N. Lake street, or County committee and highway department will share in the dedication since the cost is shared equally by the city and county.

Final price figures have not been received but the final cost will be below the $30,000 estimate, he indicated.

The bridge will open a fourth main artery into Neenah, the others being Winnebago avenue, Main street, and N. Lake street, or County committee and highway department will share in the dedication since the cost is shared equally by the city and county.

Open House Thursday

6 Rooms Added to Hoover School to Serve Fast-Growing Neenah Area

Neenah — Serving Neenah's fast-growing southwest side has required Hoover school to grow along with the area and, though only several years old, the school this last year went through a building expansion program.

Six classrooms were added to the structure at a cost of $112,536 and were put into use this fall. Open house for the new addition will be part of an observance week have made the school an interesting and functional building. The open house will be from 6:30 to 8 p.m., after which there will be a meeting of the school Parent - Teachers association.

Miss Mary Wilts, elementary supervisor, will speak on "Teaching Your Child to Read" at the meeting. The open house will be continued after the program.

Lighting Emphasis

The six new classrooms carry out the same architectural design as the original building and incorporate many of the same ideas that have made the school an interesting and functional building. Particular attention has been paid to lighting in the new addition. There is a maximum of natural light brought into the classroom through windows and clerestories. When artificial light is needed, it is provided by economical, yet efficient light fixtures. A minimum of 45 foot candles is obtained at the student's desk level.

The walls are of concrete block painted in a pastel shade. Ponderosa pine panels are used to accent details and serve as bulletin board space. Each classroom is furnished with plastic top desks and a sink and bubbler. Hot water heating is used and each room has its own independent control. The rooms have slanted ceilings with acoustical tile. Classrooms on the Hunt street side have an area of 896 square feet and those on the Zernlock avenue side are 1,008 square feet in size.

The six classrooms will handle approximately 180 students.

Speaker to Outline Labor View on Safety

State AFL-CIO Representative on Council's Program

Menasha — "Labor's Attitude Toward Industrial Safety" will be discussed at the next dinner meeting of the Twin City Industrial Safety Council at Germania hall at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 19.

Speaking to the group will be Gregory Wallig, a field representative of the AFL-CIO with headquarters in Milwaukee.

Gregory Wallig

Waukegan. He joined the AFL regional staff in 1953 after serving as president of the Simmons company union at Kenosha.

His appearance was arranged by Claude Cash, president of the Neenah-Menasha Labor council, in conjunction with the safety council program committee.

Many industries are planning to send union representatives to the dinner and all reservations must be turned in to H. L. Sherman, council secretary-treasurer and Menasha Vocational and Adult school director, by Friday.

Twin City Deaths

Herman Schwartzkopf

Neenah — Herman H. Schwartzkopf, 47, route 1, died at 12:20 Tuesday afternoon at his home after suffering a heart attack. He was born March 28, 1911 in the town of Morris and had been employed at the Marten Dairy the last 21 years.

The Neenah fire department was called and the resuscitator used for 15 minutes but he could not be revived.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church with the Rev. Harvey Norenberg in charge. Burial will be in Greenlawn Memorial park. Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday and at the church after 11:30 a.m. Friday. A prayer service will be held at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Survivors are the widow; a daughter, Karen, at home; two sons, Norman and Richard, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwartzkopf, Tigerton; two brothers, William, Pulaski, and Julius, Neenah; and four sisters, Mrs. Milton Wendler, Wittenberg, Mrs. Orrin Westphal, Marlon, Mrs. William Stelf, Neenah, and Mrs. Elmer Felts, Menasha.

Mrs. Dora Vanbrunt

Neenah — Mrs. Dora Vanbrunt, 88, Long Branch, N. J., died at 8:30 this morning. She had been in Neenah the last month visiting relatives. She was born Jan. 4, 1870, in Long Branch.

The body will be sent from the Westgor Funeral home to the Willis-Wooley Funeral home at Long Branch where funeral arrangements will be completed.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. George Zifka, Long Branch, and Mrs. H. K. Festermacher, Allentown, Pa.; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Tullar School Appeals Award To Earl Hughes

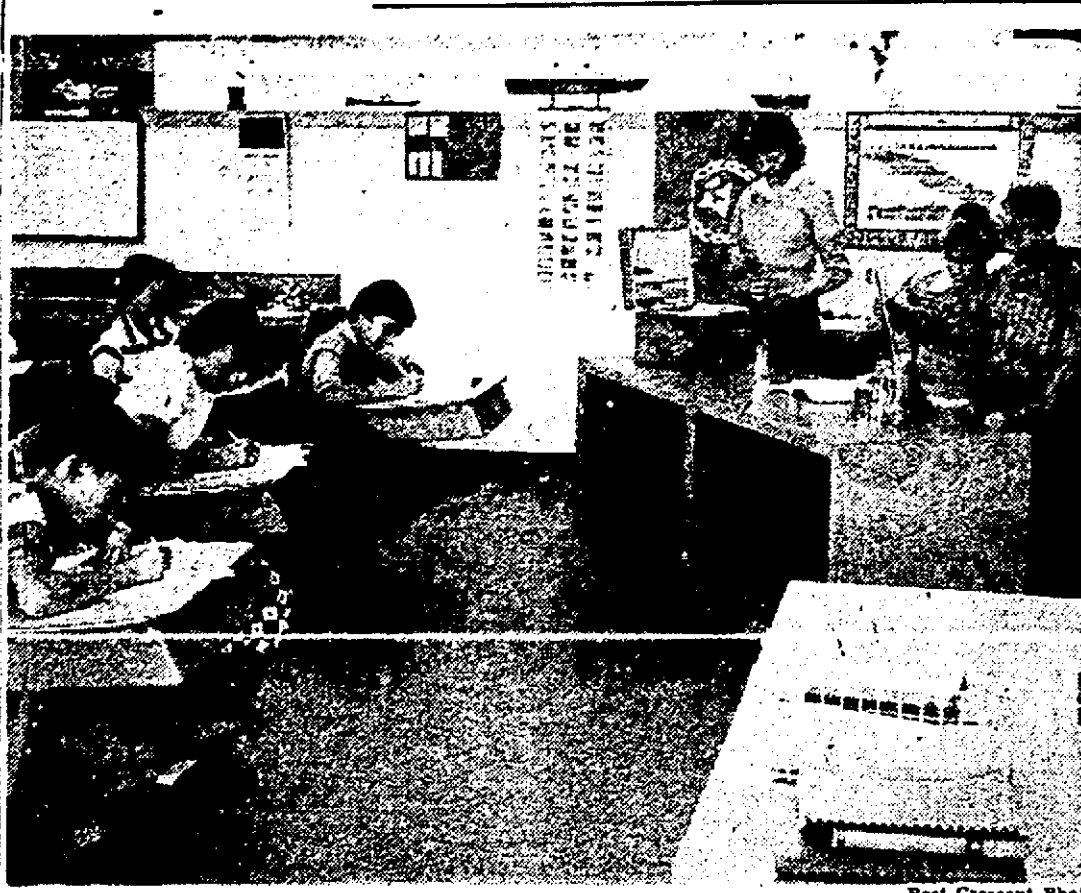

Oshkosh — The Tullar school district of the towns of Neenah and Clayton has appealed to circuit court a condemnation award for three acres it is seeking from Earl R. Hughes, route 1, Neenah.

Two land commissioners, Andrew Geiger and Carl J. Schroeder, awarded Hughes $7,770 for the property while the their commissioner, Frank Heckrodt, returned a minority report setting a $4,273 valuation on the land sought by the school.

Also appealed to circuit court was a jury decision in the suit brought by Frank Novotny, Jr., against the county highway committee. Novotny had charged encroachment on his land in the County Trunk G widening project.

The county board recently approved hiring special legal counsel to appeal the case from a county court jury verdict.

The district offered $3,000 for the three acres, including damages, Hughes said.

Plow Field in Search For Murder Weapon

Oshkosh — The field where the body of Ruth Schmidt, 17, Oshkosh, was found was plowed today in an attempt to find the tire iron which Vernon R. Dillman, 22, Oshkosh, confessed slayer of the girl, said he used in slaying the girl the night of Aug. 15. The tire iron was not found.

The sheriff's office is continuing the search for the alleged murder weapon.

Couples Clubs Plan Weekend Activities

Couples from Our Savior's

Hair Styles Program of Study Club

Neenah — Neenah Mothers Study club will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at Mi-Lady Beauty shop where Mrs. Loretta Hawkins will give a demonstration on hair styling and hair care.

Club members will bring toys to be distributed through the Emergency society as a service project. Committee members are Mrs. Robert Leonard and Mrs. Herman Adler.

Plans will be announced for a children's holiday party in December at the Neenah Recreation building.

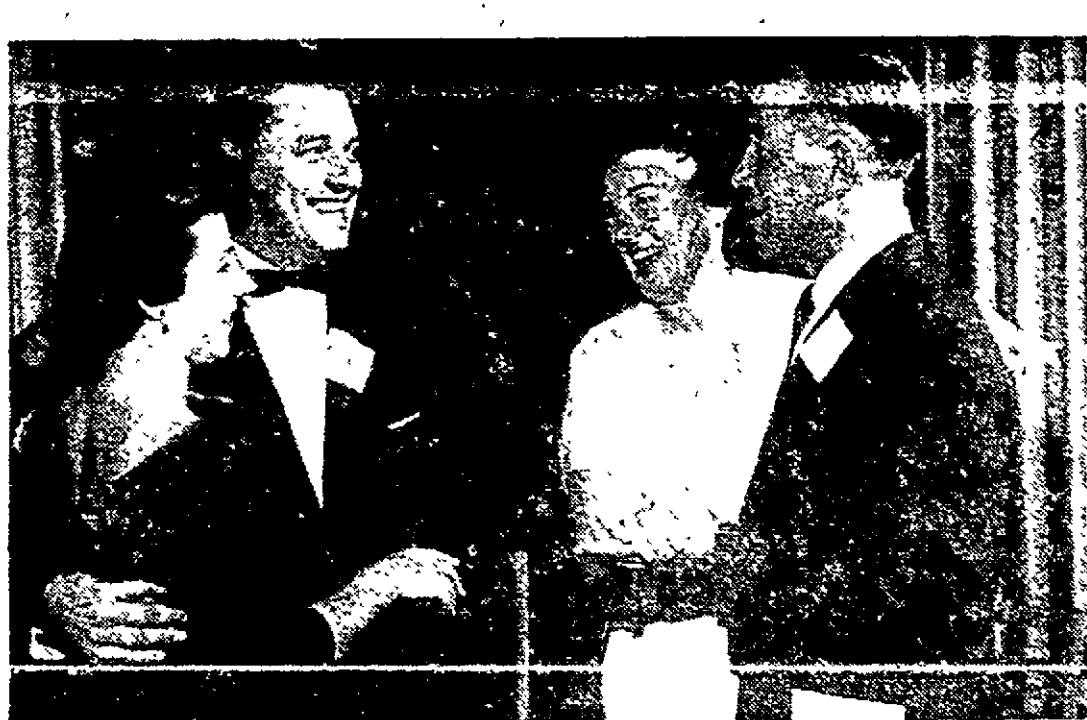

Nicolet Ladies completed the second round of a card tournament Tuesday evening at Knights of Columbus hall. Schafkopf winners were Mrs. Orville LaSelle and Mrs. Carlton Giese. Mrs. Cyril Hyland won in bridge and Mrs. Clifford Johnson in rummy. Other awards went to Mrs. Don Jacobs and Mrs. LaSelle. A Christmas potluck supper and guest night will be held Dec. 9.

Lutheran church will meet at 5:45 p.m. at the church to attend the smorgasbord at the Elwood hotel in New London. Co-chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lintner and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Osier. Following the dinner the group will return to Fellowship hall for a meeting.

"Harvest-Time Fun" is the theme of the party planned for 8 p.m. Saturday by the Couples club at St. Timothy's Lutheran church. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stallman and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wright are co-chairmen of the event which is also a welcome party for the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Jacobson. The Young Adult fellowship of the First Congregational church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for a hayride followed by a chili supper at the church. Committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Olski and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Block.

Canteen Night

Neenah — A "canteen night" for teenagers and young adults will be sponsored by the Neenah-Menasha Association for Retarded Children at 8 p.m. Friday at the YWCA. The evening will include entertainment, planned games and refreshments. Mrs. Walter Michener and Mrs. Robert Fast are co-chairmen.

The Valley Inn Was the Site of the Saturday evening dance held by the 60 club. Couples dancing in the above picture are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Yankowski and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kuhnel. The Twin City Century club held a cocktail party and dinner dance the same evening at North Shore Golf club. Pictured below are Arthur Plummer, Mrs. George Wachter, Mrs. Plummer and George Wachter, left to right.

Homemakers Set Holiday Fair

Oshkosh — Winnebago county homemakers participating in 50 clubs have been gathering Christmas gift ideas, decoration materials and recipes during the past two months in preparation for a Christmas fair. The second annual fair is scheduled for 1:30 to 9 p.m. Nov. 19, at the Oshkosh Masonic temple, 204 Washington avenue.

Special displays are being organized by the seven homemaker centers. Allenville center has planned a display of Christmas breads and rolls with a variety of yeast and quick breads. Gift ideas the whole family can make will be shown by the Eureka center clubs with some gift suggestions that can be made by children.

Apron patterns will be the feature of the Neenah center. Three homemakers and their daughters will model mother-daughter apron combinations. Outside decorations will be included in the Omro center's display of ornaments, tree trimmings and favors.

Winchester homemakers have made centerpieces using candles, evergreen boughs and holiday ornaments. Cookie displays for the various seasons of the year with trays showing an assortment of cookies is the Oshkosh center project.

Candy House Candy is the display topic of Winnebago center, with a display featuring a candy wreath and different ways of preparing candy. Mrs. Marvin Haller, Lakeside club, will show a candy house, a frame covered with a boiled type frosting and trimmed with small candies. A fence of peppermint sticks frames the centerpiece. Recipes will be available for the breads, cookies and candy displays. Mrs. Eileen Schrieber, Wisconsin.

KD Circle to Sponsor Sale

Neenah — Final arrangements for a Friday benefit showing and sale at Olene's shop were made at a King's Daughters Service circle committee meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Raw, Adella Beach.

The percentage received from the sale will be used for monthly parties for teenagers at Winnebago State hospital and for service projects at Sunset Haven Rest home.

On the sale committee are Mrs. Fred Deutsch, Mrs. W. H. Graebner and Mrs. Raw.

Nancy Schoepel Is Honored at Bridal Shower

Neenah — A miscellaneous shower was given Tuesday evening at the YWCA by Mrs. Arly Kuhn and Mrs. Hubert Kurkowski in honor of Miss Nancy Schoepel, daughter of Mrs. Roland Weiss, 732 Paris street, Menasha. She will be married Dec. 27 at St. Mary's Catholic church to Thomas E. Fuszard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Fuszard, 109 Spruce street, Neenah.

About 40 guests attended the bridal event.

Mental Health Volunteer Work, Topic of Speaker

Neenah — Mrs. Thomas Catlin, guest speaker for the YWCA Welcome Strangers club Monday evening, pointed out the need for volunteer workers in the mental health program.

She outlined the six fold purpose of Winnebago county mental health program as offering a helping hand to the discharged patient, providing Christmas gifts for patients, recruiting hospital volunteers, educating the public on mental illness, encouraging and financing the training of research personnel and helping legislators find out the facts.

"Everyone has some quality that can be utilized in caring for the ill," said Mrs. Catlin. She explained duties of the volunteer are non-professional, but they must be a true friend to the patient, capable of listening to them and understanding their needs. Patients are aware volunteer workers are there because they want to help, she said. The club voted to help a needy family as a year-round fall.

Miss Randall Initiated Into Honor Sorority

Neenah — Miss Patricia Randall, daughter of Mrs. George Randall, 413 Eleventh street, has been initiated into the Alpha chapter of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, freshman honorary sorority for women at the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Randall, who is majoring in medical technology, completed her freshman year at the Menasha Extension division. For membership in the sorority an overall average of 3.5 is required.

During her freshman year at Menasha she was a cheerleader and active in student affairs and was awarded a scholarship to Madison this year.

Chapter Holds Men's Night

Menasha — Men's Night was observed by Menasha chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday evening at the Masonic hall. A program honoring the men followed a potluck supper.

Arrangements were made by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Herrbold, Mrs. Irving Merrill and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beisenstein.

Chapter members will attend a Friday meeting of Fond du Lac chapter, when Mrs. Margaret Baker, worthy grand conductress, will be honored. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sherman are chairmen of the Nov. 25 meeting.

Candidates Spent $5,100 on Election

Winnebago Republican Party Reports $2,268 Expense in Recent Campaign

Oshkosh — Candidates and clubs backing candidates spent a total of $5,147 on the recent election, according to expense statements filed with County Clerk Neil A. Hoffmann. Expense statements were due Saturday.

The county Republican party listed an expenditure of $2,268 on the election. Expenses of Republican candidates were County Clerk Hoffmann, $101; Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber, $6.76; Clerk of Courts William E. Osborne, $4.41; County Treasurer Earl E. Fuller, $15.91; Sheriff Charles Lowry, none; and Coroner Dr. G. A. Steele, $4.60.

In the Republican assembly races, Harvey R. Abraham, first district, spent $19 and a committee backing him spent $309; Arnold J. Cane, third district, spent $21 and his committee $378.

Democratic county candidates reporting expenses were Alfred Hoffmann, sheriff candidate, $237; a committee backing Charlotte Schaefer for county clerk, $190; Chester Hofberger, register of deeds candidate, $133; and Robert Nordlander, county treasurer candidate, $25.

Ted R. Jackson, first district assembly candidate, reported expenses of $15 and two committees backing him spent a total of $474. Warren Wilke, third assembly district candidate, spent $93.

Agency Hired To Appraise Properties

Claude Mayer To Do Work for Menasha Board

Menasha — The Claude Mayer Insurance agency, Menasha, was hired to appraise school properties by the board of education Monday night.

The board learned the Warzyn Engineering and Service company, Madison, is making soil borings and necessary laboratory analysis at the Sixth street playground site for a proposed new elementary school.

Bills paid were $1,915 for extra curricular activities; $10,360, Clovis-Grove Grade school construction; and $17,714, regular bills.

Neenah Car Damaged When Friction From Wheel Causes Fire

Neenah — Spinning a tire caught in an excavation rut in the 1100 block on S. Commercial street resulted in a fire which damaged the rear seat cushions of a car driven by Margaret Longhurst, 412 Clark street, Monday.

She was coming out of a driveway when the car became stuck. Friction from the spinning wheel transmitted the heat through the body of the car to the seat cushions which began burning.

3 New Cagers Join Haynes' Magician Five

Former College Stars to Appear On Menasha Card

Menasha — Three new players will make their first appearance here with the Harlem Magicians when Mar- ques Haynes' troupe plays the Boston Shamrocks at the Menasha High school gym on Nov. 22. The Magicians will meet the Boston Shamrocks in the program sponsored by the Menasha Athletic association. New players include Mack Doss, Norris Sharf and Sid Dawson. They join last year's cast which includes the three veterans, Haynes, Sam "Boom" Wheeler and Josh Grider plus Paul Martin, Allen Davis, Eugene Johnson, and Tommy Gibson. Doss, a native of Shannon, Miss., is 6-8 tall and weighs 207 pounds. A center, he is a graduate of Alcorn A and M of Mississippi. Sharf is 6-34 tall and comes from Luther, Okla. A guard, he played his college ball at Langston university at Langston, Okla. Dawson, at 6-9, the tallest of the trio, is another former Langston cager. He plays both center and forward and is a native of Detroit. The professional game will be preceded by a contest between the Macs and New Holstein. The 6:15 contests will be a regular Eastern Wisconsin Amateur league fray. Grade school teams will put on an exhibition between halves. Tickets for the doublehead- er are available at sport shops in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton, according to Jerry Heiss, Menasha Athletic association president. Reserved seats are $1.25, general admission is $1 and 50 cents for students.

Muni League Launches Play

Six-Team League Formed; St. John Defends Crown

Menasha — The Municipal league returns to the Menasha basketball scene Thursday night after an absence of a year with three games on tap at the Butte des Morts gym. A six-team league has been organized by the recreation department. First round play concludes on Dec. 18 and the second round will begin Jan. 8 and close on Feb. 5. The playoff between the champions of the two halves is slated for Feb. 12. Opening night pairings match St. John Holy Name against Menasha Recreation at 7 p.m., the Menasha Macs against Menasha Merchants at 8 p.m. and Marathon versus St. John No. 2 at 9 p.m. St. John Holy Name won the championship in 1956-57, the last year the league was in operation. It currently is working on a string of five straight victories this fall. Menasha Recreation defeated St. John No. 2 in a non-league game last Sunday. The Macs have three straight victories in non-league games while the Merchants, the former W-W Bar squad, lost to St. John No. 2 in its first non-loop outing. Marathon competed in the Industrial league last season and was unbeaten in all 10 of its starts. The St. John No. 2 squad is composed mainly of former St. John CVO players. It split even in its two non-league outings.

Norma Jensen Rolls 196 in Grange Loop

Allenville — Norma Jensen bowled a 196 game in the Allenville Grange Mixed Couples Bowling league at the Raulf alleys at Oshkosh last weekend. There were no women's honor series or totals of 225-550 by the men. The Harvesters are in first place with 14 points. They have a 10-2 record. Overseers have a 9-3 record and 12 points.

Menasha Coach Cuts Squad to 16 Players

Roster Includes 4 Major Lettermen; 2 Minor Winners; Open Play Next Tuesday

Menasha — Coach Lucian Gajewski has trimmed his Menasha varsity basketball squad to 16 players from an original turnout of about 21. The roster includes five seniors, eight juniors and three sophomores. Included on the squad are four major lettermen and two minor monogram winners from last year. The returning lettermen are Tom Stepanski, Hal Jorgensen, Dave Robinson and Carl "Rocky" Jersild. Bob Hodkiewicz and Dave Ristau won minor letters last year. All are seniors except Ristau, a sophomore. Juniors include Dexter Below, Al Blohm, Wayne Doverspike, Jay Drzwiecki, Don Kaufert, Ed Sheets, Jim Stenson and Russ Wendt. Sophomores are Ristau, Bill Ritchie and Bill Prange. The three second year students all are above 6 feet tall and Ristau and Ritchie are around 6-3. Several of the underclassmen may be relegated to the junior varsity since they probably will see little varsity action. The Bluejays open their slate with a non-league game against West De Pere here next Tuesday and they entertain Manitowoc a week from Friday. Other non-league games include Appleton there Nov. 26.

A New Dual Report Card Will be issued Nov. 19 to Menasha public school pupils in the first through sixth grades. Miss Ruth Freye, first grade teacher at Butte des Morts grade school and member of the committee which selected the new card, describes some of the report card's new features to Mrs. Herbert Miller, seated

New Report Card Set for Grade Pupils

A to E Ratings To be Given to Menasha Students

Menasha — A report card which takes into consideration a child's progress based upon individual ability and progress in relation to others in a class will be issued Nov. 19 for the first time to Menasha Public school first through sixth grade students. Miss Edythe Sanderman, elementary supervisor, announced today.

"We think this card more nearly satisfies the teachers' and parents' concept of a report card," Miss Sanderman said.

The new card, which is expected to be used the next five years, returns grading to the A, B, C, D, and E system in reading, language, arts, number work and social studies.

In addition, plus and minus will be used to grade sub-headings under each of the major subjects. A plus mark will indicate satisfactory development and a minus, need for improvement.

Grade Work Habits Study and work habits and personal and social development also will be graded by plus and minus marks.

Last year children were judged according to strong progress, normal development, improving and weakness, needs attention. During the five years previous, grading was based on satisfactory growth, capable of better growth and unsatisfactory.

The new card will be issued at 9-week intervals. Conferences will be held throughout the school year to clarify all aspects of the card and parents, teachers and pupils will be required to work together to help each student to develop fully.

Miss Sanderman pointed out a report card is only one of several methods of reporting a child's progress to parents. "Face to face contacts with parents strengthen and supplement a good card," she said.

Train Minds "Academic growth is only one segment of modern education. We are also concerned with development of healthy bodies, trained minds, satisfactory social adjustment and emotional stability," she stated.

The committee of teachers which worked with Miss Sanderman to develop the new card included Miss Marie Acker, Miss Dorothy Sorenson, Miss Patricia Schneider, Miss Bernice Nell and Miss Ruth Freye.

This committee, which was organized last year, will continue to make improvements to the new card.

Grade school teachers are explaining the workings of the new cards during parent-teacher conferences this week. The conferences begin at 2:30 p.m. each day.

6 Tests on First Weekend Card in Extension Wheel

Madison — The University of Wisconsin Extension division basketball conference will get underway this weekend with two double-headers and a pair of single games.

A twin bill at Racine Friday night will match Kenosha against Green Bay and Racine against Menasha while the next night at Kenosha Racine will play Green Bay and Kenosha battles Menasha.

Also on Saturday, Sheboygan, last year's champs, travels to Wausau and Marinette plays at Manitowoc.

Bob Goemans, former Appleton High school star and a University of Wisconsin graduate, replaces Karl Stoeckel as athletic director and coach at Green Bay. Stoeckel is finishing his doctorate at the University of Illinois.

Asmus Rolls Into Second Place in Valley Tourney

Green Bay — Jack Asmus of Neenah ranks second in the singles division of the nineteenth annual Fox River Valley Bowling Association tournament with a 649 series. Roland Sibilsky of Algoma is first with 669.

Duane Kassube of Appleton holds first in all-events with 1,853. He is third in singles. Doubles honors belong to Don Bilgrien and Gordon Roeseler of Iron Ridge with 1,237. Ed Flood and Ed Grassl of Appleton are next with 1,216.

Brehme's of Green Bay is tops in the team department with a 3,011 score followed by Hickey's of Green Bay with 2,846.

The tournament got underway here two weeks ago and will continue through Dec. 14.

Merchants Voice Dissatisfaction With 1-Way Streets, Parking Woes

Want Revision of Road System Less Confusing to Customers; Mayor Agrees

Dissatisfaction with 1 way streets and the downtown parking situation was expressed by members of the Downtown Appleton Retail Association when they met with Mayor Mitchell and Ald Stoenbauer this morning.

The group decided to make further studies of both problems and make recommendations to city officials, along with a recommendation that the city purchase land for a parking lot at the Packard street dump.

Mayor Mitchell agreed with the feelings expressed on 1 way streets — that they are confusing customers and driving them away from the shopping district.

Both the mayor and the ma-two weeks without discrimination as to whether the offender was customer or clerk was suggested.

The mayor noted, "It's up to the police department to clean up this mess without having merchants fighting among themselves." He added, however, he was interested in hearing how retailers felt about it when they arrived at a definite answer.

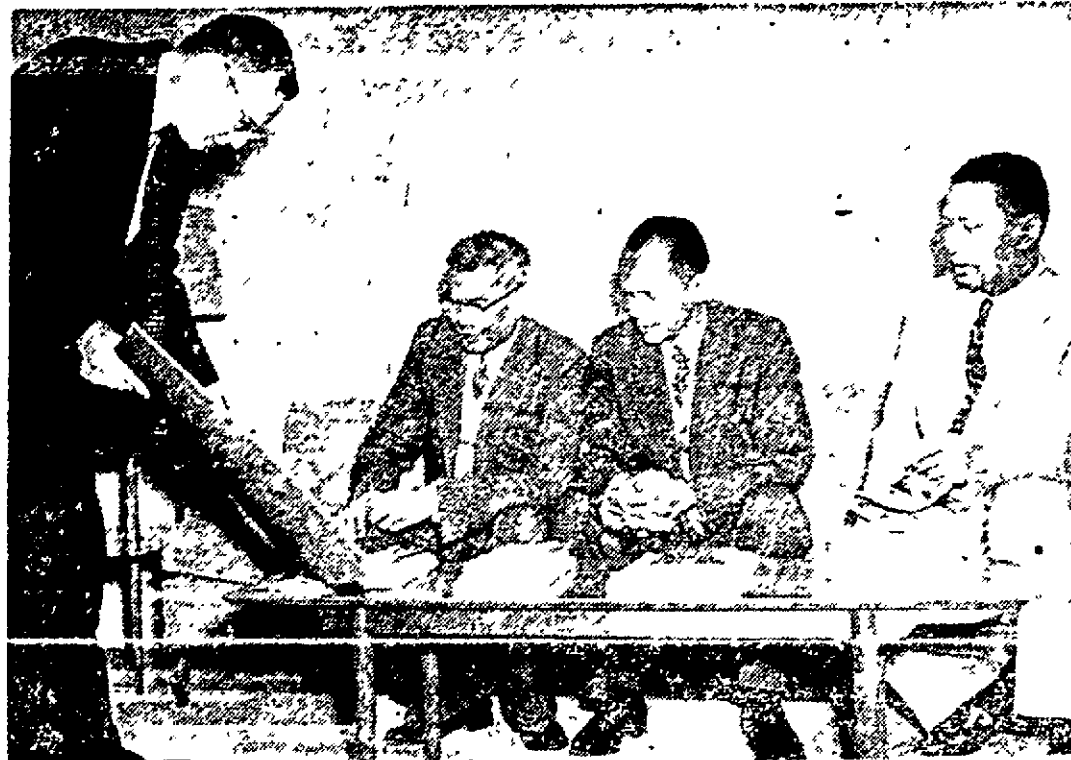

The possibility of raising meter rates to 10 cents an hour was mentioned as a possible way of eliminating the all day parker.

Buy Space

Fred Eustice, association president, suggested the Packard street dump property be purchased by the city for use by those who might buy parking space for about $1.50 a month.

Ald Stoenbauer recounted some of the difficulties which may be run into if attempts are made to purchase the property. He has heard some comments, he said, particularly from County Supv. Sylvester Esler, on the desirability of the spot for a University of Wisconsin extension building.

The mayor said he'd been in favor of the spot as a potential CW site. He also noted the city has started replacing parking meters and is considering the possibility of including two 12-minute meters in each block where customers may be able to accomplish their business in a shorter length of time. He cited should be made on all cars parked over the 1-hour limit library are located as examples.

Visitors From Indonesia on the Lawrence college campus this week got a resume of local building plans from President Douglas M. Knight, left. The visiting educators, all deans at Indonesian universities are, from left, Dr. Sutiano Djuned Puspongoro, Prof. Iskandar Gondowardojo, and Prof. Muljatno. The latter follows the Indonesian custom of being known by only one name.

Mayor Mitchell observed a 60 minute parking law for the avenue already is on the books. It must be enforced without discrimination, he said.

'Meter Maids'

William Pfifer suggested the possibility of hiring "meter maids" to check the license numbers of all-day parkers, procure the names of the car owners and contact them, telling them the association's feelings on the situation. He made the recommendation, he said, "hoping to get at the root of the trouble—the all day parker—without offending the customer."

Others in the merchants' association suggested that an enforcement crack down should be made on all cars parked over the 1-hour limit library are located as exam-

Prime Minister Talks to Pope

Vatican City — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada was received by Pope John XXIII today in a special audience. They talked for more than ten minutes in the pontiff's private library.

"Now I understand why he was elected pope," the Canadian leader said later. "He is so affable, courteous and fatherly that he wins immediately those who are fortunate enough to approach him."

7,953 People Live on Calumet County Farms

Agent Cites Figures in Annual Report to Board of Supervisors

Chilton — A total of 7,953 persons are living on 1,646 farms in Calumet county, according to the annual report of County Agent O. W. Meyer given to the Board of Supervisors, Friday.

The farms average 113 acres.

Stockbridge town has 207 farms under cultivation averaging 103 acres; Chilton town 191 farms with a 113-acre average; Rantoul, 181 farms at 123-acre average; Charleston shows 118 farms with the highest over-all size of 151-acre average.

More Totals
 Brothertown shows 195 farms in operation at a 110-acre median; and New Holstein town totals 183 farms with a 106-acre average.

The livestock census shows 134,600 chickens, 54,400 head of cattle, 10,500 hogs, and 1,080 sheep.

Hay leads all other crops with an acreage of 43,737. Acreage for oats is 38,056, corn for silage totaled 13,577 while 6,778 acres of grain corn was planted.

Peas accounted for 3,220 Calumet acres, while sweet corn crops were planted in 2,950 acres. Farmers planted in 1,754 acres in barley and 781 in wheat.

Sugar Beets
 Sugar beet acreage totaled 836 and 265 acres of red beets were grown.

Listings of the smaller grains showed 192 acres in soybeans, 190 in flax, 161 in Lima beans, 22 in cucumbers, 20 in potatoes, 20 in rye, and 19 in carrots.

Since almost 60 per cent of the Calumet farm income comes from dairy cattle special emphasis is placed on the dairy program, Meyer said.

Calumet county now ranks fifth in the state with the percentage of cows on dairy herd improvement testing programs. Only Winnebago, Rock, Walworth and Jefferson show higher percentages.

More than 70,000 milk samples were tested during the past year. The average Calumet DHI cow produces close to 10,000 pounds of milk and 375 pounds of fat annually. Average county cows produce more than 1,000 pounds less than those on the test program, and over 100 pounds less fat.

Three types of herd improvement testing are available. These are the standard tests made by the fieldman in which 55 herd are enrolled; combination tests in which samples are taken from each cow every other month. There are now six herds on this program.

Most popular is the owner-sampler program which numbers 211 herds. Records of this testing are not official, but give the dairyman an understanding of his herd and measures the production of each cow.

Calumet county has been declared a modified certified brucellosis free area under a compulsory control program begun four years ago. Only eight other counties in the state have achieved this status.

Ring Tests
 In the 14th round of brucellosis ring tests, Calumet county had only 35 herds that reacted positive. This indicates that the incidence of disease is very low.

Recent figures available shows Calumet to rank second in the state with 173 certified brucellosis free herds. Barron county is first with 179.

Calumet is one of the few counties in the state to have an active Swine Breeders' association, Meyer said. Purpose of the groups is to improve swine herds, introducing and making available to others better breeding animals, dissemination of information on swine programs.

Thirty-three sales of purebred pigs have been held by the association since 1944.

Meyer has served for 13 years as superintendent of the swine division of the Northeastern Wisconsin junior livestock show.

Soil Testing
 In the field of crop improvement, soil testing programs are available to county farmers. Almost 1,000 samples were evaluated in two programs held during the year.

Tests show that about 30 per cent of Calumet soils need lime and practically all need phosphate and potash.

Six fertilizer plots were set up along well traveled highways to make them easily accessible to farmers. These were on the Norbert Eck-

Post-Crescent Photo

An Exhibit of Produce Grown by Paul Hoffman, Appleton's most prominent amateur gardener, proves that a man doesn't have to be a farmer to enjoy growing things. Hoffman has been at his hobby for about 15 years. He displayed his examples of produce at Valley Fair at the end of the summer growing season.

Paul Hoffman

Proves City Man Can Be Excellent 'Farmer'

BY DAVID APKER
 Post-Crescent Farm Editor

An Appleton man is proving that farmers don't have a complete monopoly in the age-old art of growing things.

He is Paul Hoffman, president of the Hoffman company, Appleton contracting firm. Hoffman has been gardening for more than 15 years. A true artist in his hobby, Hoffman gardens for the love of watching things grow. Although his hobby has reached large-scale proportions, Hoffman doesn't sell any of his output. Some of the produce is used in his own kitchen. The rest is given away. He annually turns over much of his crop to the Golden Age home in New London.

His enjoyment comes in raising the biggest and the best in vegetables, fruits or flowers.

Giant Products
 Examples of giant-size Hoffman products are tomato plants 18 feet long, 12 to 14-pound cabbages and oversized potatoes. He raises ten varieties of apples.

Much of Hoffman's produce is raised on a plot of land in the northern part of Appleton. He's not anxious to publicize its exact location because past experience has shown children still enjoy after-dark foraging and enjoy his products as much as others.

During the spring, summer and autumn, Hoffman's backyard is a colorful profusion of flowers and other plants. Climbing the side of the garage are his king-size tomato plants. He has peach and pear trees and an apple tree that bears eight varieties of fruit.

Work With Hybrids
 Hoffman's interest in gardening has led him to numerous experiments with hybrids. By crossing varieties he produced a tomato that looks much like a lemon.

Fifteen years as an amateur gardener has taught Hoffman that you can't go by the book in all cases. He advises potential gardeners to start off with a small garden and boost its size as their knowledge increases.

Lose Interest
 "Most people are good gardeners until July, then they lose interest," Hoffman declares.

"About the middle of the summer they turn the garden over to God and he likes Jan. 1, 1957 until Aug. 31, 1958 in both the bull and female classes. Three classes of carcass steers will also be shown. Steer calves will include animals calved between March 1, 1957 and March 1, 1958. No entry fee will be required on steers.

New this year will be the establishment of a junior heifer show open to all 4-H or FFA youth carrying a beef project. A junior member may exhibit a senior, summer yearling, mother Holt is being transferred from San Antonio, Texas, to Ford Sheridan, Ill.

Reiland Team Wins Contest

Hortonville — A 4,250 pound team of horses owned by Myron Reiland, route 1, Hortonville won the national heavy-weight horse pulling contest at the St. Joseph county grange fair at Centerville, Mich., by pulling 3,900 pounds the full distance of 27 1/2 feet.

The Reiland team beat 22 other entries in the competition. Thirteen teams pulled 3,700 pounds the full distance.

The Reiland team has won several first place awards at fairs held at Viroqua, Tomah, Chilton, Luxemburg and Woodstock, Ill. The teams set an all state record at Elmwood, Wis., pulling 3,775 pounds.

Turkey Raisers Hike Production

Producers intend to increase the number of turkey breeding hens for the coming hatching season, according to the Wisconsin crop reporting service.

October reports from growers in the 15 top turkey producing states as a whole indicate growers will hold 25 per cent more heavy white, 4 per cent more bronze and other heavy breeds, and 38 per cent more beltsville white breed hens at the beginning of the hatching season than they had at the start of this year's hatching season.

Reports from Wisconsin turkey growers indicate increases of 40 per cent in the number of heavy white and 20 per cent in bronze and other heavy turkey breeding hens.

County Agents Report on 1958 Program

Service Training
Listed as Top
Extension Project

Waupaca — A successful Waupaca extension office year was reported to Waupaca county board members by Joe Walker, agent, Gene Hoyer, club agent, and Mrs. Dale Tubbs, home agent. Each branch of the office listed accomplishments and educational programs being offered for public participation, especially rural, in the county.

County Agent Walker listed initiation of an in-service training program for workers, beginning of the "Add a Million" group, the Bankers award program, DHIA surveys, farm building surveys and other programs and their operation during the year.

Hay Producing
Walker said that 40 per cent of county land is producing hay. To assist in establishing good quality hay, the agent worked considerably in helping save costs and improve production.

Another 29 per cent of county farm area is planted in oats according to Walker. He said that the county had established variety oat plots to determine which oats are best suited for Waupaca county.

Corn takes up 25 per cent of county land and research plots were planted in it again this year. Although production was not high, the study of land leveling, disc plowing, fertilizing and other conservation practices was successful said the agent.

Weed Control
He pointed out that weed control experiments at the farm plots were highly successful on all but the Canadian Thistle. Walker said he believed that seed dealers should be instructed in proper insecticide use and is planning meetings for this spring.

He stated that 54 per cent of Waupaca farm income was derived from dairying and that the Dairy Herd Improvement association supervised by Waupaca and Waushara county agents included testing of 1,300 cows per month.

Citing swine production. Walker said it has been lucrative since 1954 and that the Wisconsin Feeder Pig cooperative has over 100 members in the county. There are also over 52 active dealers in cattle and hogs.

Surveys of bean production in the Waupaca, Marquette, Portage and Waushara county areas are being made and sent to packing firms in New Jersey interested in establishing a frozen food processing plant in the area.

State Farmers Won't Seek Zoning Laws

Madison — State or county zoning to protect farm land from advancing metropolitan areas is not in Wisconsin's immediate future, predict University of Wisconsin land specialists Raymond Penn and Walter Rowlands.

However some local communities in rural Wisconsin are zoning to help guide the advancement of city and recreational moves onto the farm land.

101 4-H Youths Get Top Awards

Over 100 Other Members Receive
Honorable Mention at Dinner

Waupaca — A total of 101 county 4-H club members received awards during recent "Achievement Night" ceremony at Manawa. There were also over 100 honorable mentions for achievement in projects this year.

Each 4-H member is required to select a project, or projects, complete them, display them in public, and submit a record book on the project. The record books determine county winners.

This year record books were corrected by Shawano county agents cooperating with Waupaca agents in an exchange program. Both Extension offices felt greater impartiality would result.

Bankers' Awards
Awards, certificates and pins for achieving are sponsored by the Waupaca County Bankers' association which was represented by Lyle Harrison, Clintonville organization president.

Harrison called the 4-H organization one of the finest youth programs existing since it sets a goal for members and helps them to achieve it. Awards presented by Gene Hoyer and Mrs. Dale Tubbs went to achievement winners Cynthia Peterson, Mary Ann Riske, Sammy Thiel and Clarendon Zirbel. These four had the best all-around record books of the entire 735 county 4-H membership.

Citizenship awards went to Ella Poehlman and Clarendon Zirbel. They repeated by winning the leadership record book honors.

Club Safety
Also winning project awards for club safety were Sunrise, Willing Workers, Clover Clippers and Casey Lake.

Dress revue winners were Betty Axtell, Janice Bauer, Karen Borchardt, Sharon Carmody, Carol Genske, Delores Gloske, Sharon Leach, Lavonne Patri, Cynthia Peterson, Ella Poehlman, Lois Rambo, Luella Roland, Sandra Saller, Judy Wied and Marjorie Zander.

Gold seal clubs with 100 per cent of their members achieving this year were Baldwin's Mill, Chain O'Lakes, Clover Clippers, Crystal Lake Busy Bees, Embarrass, Farmington, Friendly Valley, Hillside, Hobart, Jolly Jacks and Jills, Little Wolf Dairy, Matteson Go-Fors, Oak Grove, Pleasant Hill, Sandy Knoll, Sunrise, Whitcomb Creek and Willing Workers.

Club leaders recognized for long service were Carlisle Stinemetes, Crystal Lake Busy Bees; Mrs. Arthur Buchholz, South Lind; Oscar Long, White Lake; Mrs. Arnold W. Koeller, Embarrass; Mrs. Kenneth Waid, White Lake; Mrs. Gerald Tietz, Cedar Dell; Henry Moeler, Readfield Wonder Workers; Mrs. Henry Moeler, Readfield Wonder Workers; Miss Evelyn Kapitke, Baldwin's Mill; and Mrs. Alfred Popke, Oak Grove. All have served between 10 and 17 years.

Question of Sanitary Sewer Trunk Assessment Goes to Council Tonight

City Presently Pays Cost of Construction From Taxes; Growth Factor in Change Talk

The question of whether to charge benefiting property owners for construction of sanitary sewer trunks will be presented to an informal meeting of the city council tonight.

Director of Public Works Duszynski will use picture-and-word description of estimated costs that can be expected from sewers if the city grows as predicted.

Duszynski revealed his intention Tuesday in a board of public works discussion of ordering trunk construction from E. South River street along a ravine to serve the former Estabrook farm, being sub-divided under the name of South Meadows, Inc.

$8,811 Cost

It will cost about $8,811 to build the trunk to a point where local sewers in South Meadows can feed it, Duszynski said.

Construction is recommended by the street and sanitation committee but the works board must set special assessments and award a contract before work can begin.

In the past, Duszynski said, the city always has paid for trunk construction out of the general fund or property taxes. But, with the volume of work which evidently will be ordered shortly, the policy could make near breaking demands on the fund, he said. He said he expects to back up his contention at the special meeting tonight.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe said he understands the sub-division owners are willing to pay part of the trunk cost, but not all.

The remark touched off a discussion which showed one board member favors instituting a hookup charge to be paid when lots are developed.

Reveal $3,500 Shortage in Store Stock

Oshkosh — Investigation of inventory shortages at the Three Sisters store at the Valley Fair Shopping center revealed over $3,500 in merchandise has disappeared in the last nine months.

George A. McDevitt, a Chicago investigator, told the Winnebago county sheriff's department, that shortages had been noted since the store opened in 1956.

Police checked both back doors and found a mark on the door indicating that entry had been made by sliding a wire or similar device through the opening between the doors. The opening is nearly a quarter of an inch wide. A wire can hook a thumb latch, unlatching the door, and it would be possible to relock it in the same manner, they said.

Livestock Dealers At St. Paul Using Temporary Locations

South St. Paul — Commission firms handling livestock shifted operations to temporary locations today, second day of a strike which closed the yards of the St. Paul Union Stockyards Co.

Packing plants were closed because of the Veterans day holiday, but normal operations were expected to resume Wednesday.

The strike of United Packinghouse Workers Union, Local 160, which represents 323 livestock handlers employed by the Union Stockyards Co., began at 6 a.m. Monday. Representatives of both sides agreed that the wage issue was the principal one blocking agreement on a new contract, but neither would say what demands and offers had been.

No new reconciliation meetings have been set. The last meeting between the two sides was Saturday.

Heart Surgery Successful on Micke Boy

Brillion — The delicate heart operation performed on 5-year-old Joseph R. Micke was a success according to a report received from Mrs. William Stauss, Calumet county Red Cross chairman, Chilton. He is showing satisfactory improvement.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Micke, route 1, Brillion, underwent the operation for a heart defect he has had since birth on his birthday, Friday.

An emergency appeal for blood was made several weeks ago. Eighty-three volunteers reported to submit blood samples. Blood donors included 10 from Brillion, four from Forest Junction, one each from Hilbert, Kaukauna, Stockbridge, Menasha and Green Bay and two from Appleton.

Micke stated the boy will be at Madison for three weeks and then will have to spend one week in isolation at home.

Creator of Abbie, Slat Wins Citation

Raeburn Van Buren, whose famous newspaper comic feature "Abbie an' Slat" appears daily in the classified section of the Post-Crescent, received one of America's major honors Tuesday when he was named winner of the "Cartoonist of the Year" award given by the Quaker City Lodge, B'nai B'rith, in ceremonies in Philadelphia, Pa.

Presentation of the award and a plaque citing the artist's "original, clever and interesting humor in portraying American life" was made by chairman Nate Goldberg at the annual dinner meeting of the lodge.

Since only two or three awards are made annually among many categories, the honor has gained nationwide recognition. In winning this citation, Van Buren joins a small, select group of top-flight cartoonists, including Al Capp, Milton Caniff and George Wunder, who have been similarly honored.

As faithful followers of Abbie, Slat, Becky and Sue and old Bathless Groggins, and all the other delightful characters who make life in Crabtree Corners so entertaining, the Post-Crescent is pleased and proud to congratulate Van Buren on this well-deserved recognition, and is sure our readers feel the same way.

Futuristic Lighting Will Mark Seven Blocks of Chicago Street

Street lighting of the future will become a dazzling reality Thursday when an electronic signal, bounced off the surface of the moon, will energize 280 powerful fluorescent lamps to bathe seven blocks of Chicago's State street in a sea of light and make it once again the most brightly lighted street in the world.

The half million dollar project—a dream 10 years ago—provides the famed south street shopping district with the most visionary and efficient street lighting equipment ever produced.

Playing the key role in this—the most ambitious street lighting project in the history of roadway illumination—is the revolutionary street lighting standard designed by Robert O. Burton of Chicago. Seventy of the futuristic poles, the only visible different aspect of the system, line both sides of the street, at 70 to 90 foot intervals, from Lake street to Van Buren.

Principal motive behind the vast scope of the system stems from the intense pride of the State street merchants themselves, who were determined not only to revitalize interest in business on State street but wanted to regain the distinction they once held—that of the best lighted street in the world. Significantly, the recent business slump spurred on their efforts to re-light rather than impede it.

Well-Known Shops
State street is Chicago's main north-south thoroughfare, on which are located some of the nation's best known shops.

The lighting system will be paid for principally by the members of the State street lighting association, who contributed a share of the total cost proportionate to their front footage on State street while the city of Chicago will provide funds equal to what standard lighting would have cost.

Radio receivers, which control the lighting system by interpreting "beep" signals from a central transmitter, are located in the base of each pole. This is the first time a radio control system, a by-product of space age technology, has ever been utilized for street lighting control.

The system turns on all lights at dusk, turns off the three lowest arms of each pole at midnight and extinguishes the top light at dawn. Automatically controlled heating units have been installed in the base of each pole to maintain the proper temperature for maximum operating efficiency of the radio receivers so they will function properly even when piled high with snow and ice.

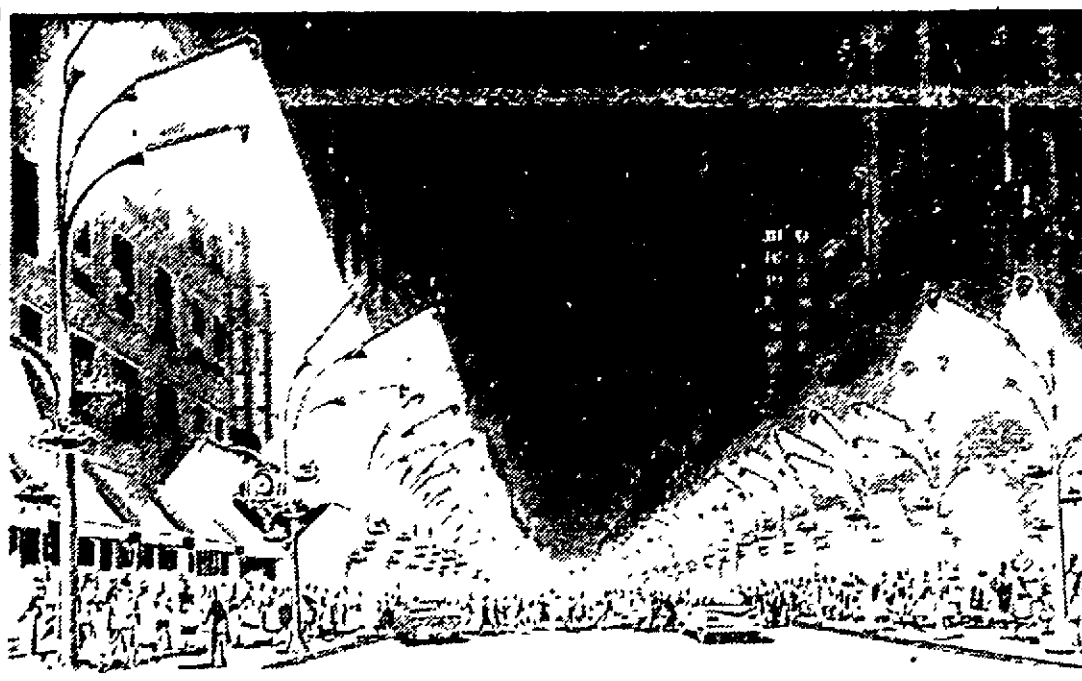

A special plumbing system is built into each pole to provide drainage of excess water from the bowls, which are plumbed into an aluminum drain pipe, complete with stainless steel fittings and rubber hoses.

(the moon, which in its return will be received by the radio sets in the base of each pole to turn on the stunning array of lights.)

More than 100,000 Chicagoans, city officials, businessmen, illuminating engineers, key industry figures and other dignitaries are expected to attend the ceremony.

The filament lighting system now being replaced, was put into operation almost 32 years ago to the month, when in October, 1926, president Calvin Coolidge flipped the switch which made State street the brightest in the world.

Does Business Follow Light? Merchants on Chicago's busy State street think so and will attempt to prove it Thursday when they turn on this $300,000 lighting system now being erected along seven blocks of the windy city's main north-south thoroughfare.

Pontiff Praises Quality of Press Work in Vatican

Rome — Pope John XXIII has thanked foreign correspondents for the high quality of their reporting of his predecessor's death and his election.

Msr. Domenico Tardini, vatican pro-secretary of state, wrote to the Rome Foreign Press club Monday on the pope's behalf:

"The sovereign pontiff is well aware of the many difficulties and the hard work connected with good journalistic coverage. That is why his holiness has charged me with expressing his gratitude to newsmen, photographers and all others who have contributed to an exact transmission of the Vatican news and its quick dissemination. . . . The pope also had a similar letter addressed to the world's movie, radio and television organizations, thanking them for the dignity with which they covered events. The pope men, photographers and all said coverage 'with these others who have contributed to an exact transmission of high level.'"

Big Scores Marked In Couples League

Greenville — Mrs. Ed Kelly slammed a 199 game for the Oliver team and Mrs. Luther Huebner a 198 and a 528 series for the Allis Chalmers team on the Farm Couples bowling league at Drephal's alleys, Hortonville.

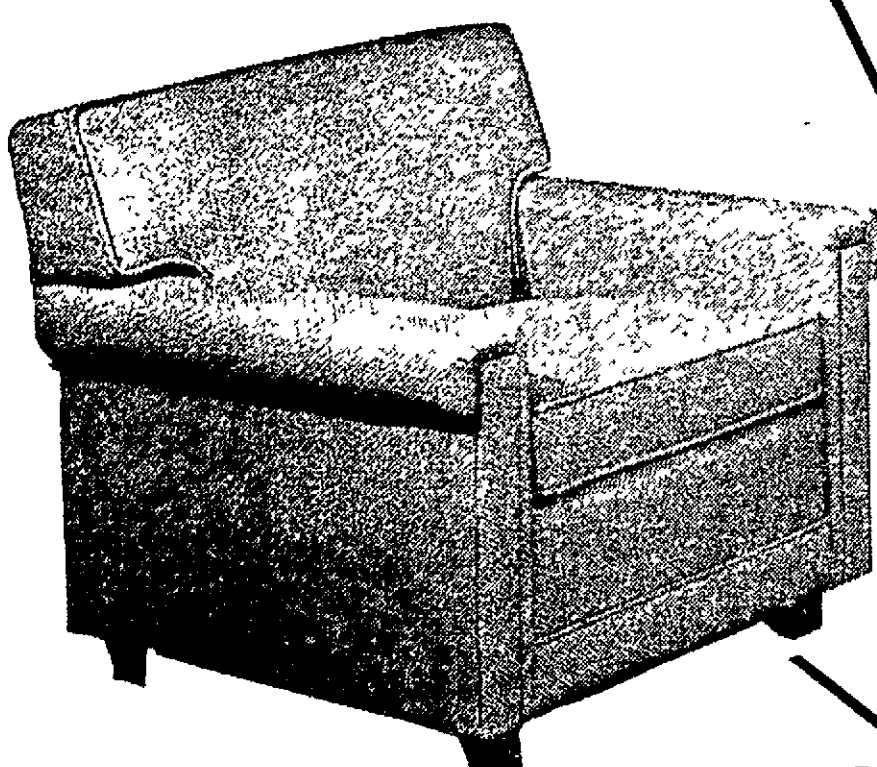

Luther Huebner of the Allis Chalmers had a 590 series and John Stolzman of the Fords had a 561 series.

John Deere, the high team, has nine wins and six losses.

The pope also had a similar letter addressed to the world's movie, radio and television organizations, thanking them for the dignity with which they covered events. The pope men, photographers and all said coverage 'with these others who have contributed to an exact transmission of high level.'"

Calcium Spurs, Often Called 'Policeman's Heel' No Fun

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you please write about 'spurs,' especially those located at the bottom of the heel? Does a bruise or injury cause this formation? Is removal by surgery satisfactory?" — L. V.

Another relatively common cause of discomfort — calcium spurs. Or just spurs, as they are often known.

A bruise, as such, isn't the cause of a spur. But a bruising blow might also cause damage inside and thus lead to a spur. However, a spur can develop without your ever having a blow hard enough to cause a real bruise.

Rather, pressure and irritation cause an inflamed area and the spur develops in the healing process. Sometimes the accumulation of calcium in the healed spot becomes a problem itself, just as the scar of a large wound can sometimes be a problem even though the wound itself is cured. For an example, a heart valve, inflamed by rheumatic fever, becomes calcified in the healing process, and hence becomes stiff or to some extent narrowed, occasionally requiring a heart operation later.

At Back of Heel
"As for spurs — often called 'policeman's heel' — they most usually form at the point at which the tendon is attached to the bone. Pounding of the foot can contribute to the injury which subsequent healing with the formation of a spur.

cause trouble and are found only accidentally by X-ray. Others are of such size or such location that they cause discomfort. Only when they are painful is there any need to do anything about them.

There isn't any positive guarantee that surgical removal will afford permanent relief. As a generality, such surgery should be expected to succeed, and unless other factors intervene, the trouble should not recur.

Try These First

However, there are a number of other things to try first. Soft rubber pads inside the shoe may relieve you. Altering the height of the heel of the shoe is occasionally tried and sometimes this alters the position of the foot enough to take the pressure off the spur.

Heat and rest help. Occasionally the area is injected with a pain-killing medication, eliminating the discomfort.

Sometimes the bursa (the pad on which the bones of the foot ride) may become inflamed and then you have bursitis. Withdrawal of fluid from the bursa, heat, rest, medication on the order of cortisone derivatives — these and others are among bursitis treatments.

For the stubborn spurs which resist these simpler methods, surgical removal is the final resort.

Check Up Needed

"Dear Dr. Molner: A few years ago I had a slight stroke due to high blood pressure. At present I am in good health except every night I wake up once or twice to urinate. Is this the after effect of the high blood pressure? G.W."

No, sir, it is not an "after effect" of high blood pressure in all probability your prostate has enlarged a little, and should be checked.
